HUNT WIDENS FOR 67 ON LOST PLANE

Teamsters' Boss Pleads 'Not Guilty'

Brewster Arraigned On Contempt Charge In U.S. District Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank W. Brewster, West Coast Teamsters Union boss, pleaded innocent to contempt of Congress charges when arraigned today in U. S. District Court.

Arraigned with Brewster, and also pleading innocent was Einar O. Mohn, executive vice president of the teamsters.

Two lesser union officials also were scheduled for arraignment. One showed up and the other didn't. Nugent La Poma, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, Wash., pleaded innocent. Harry Reiss, welfare fund administrator of Local 227 in New York, failed to answer when his name was called.

Orders Bench Warrant

Judge Charles F. McLaughlin ordered a bench warrant issued to bring Reiss into court.

McLaughlin set the trial dates at May 20 for Brewster, June 3 for Mohn, and May 27 for La Poma.

Bond for the three was set at $1,000 each. And the lawyers of all three were granted their requests for a 30-day extension in which to file motions.

Brewster, who also is a vice president of the 1½ million-member Teamsters Union, was put at the top of the arraignment list in order to permit him to be on time for an 11 a.m. (EST) date for continued quizzing by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee on his use of teamsters funds.

Stems from Inquiry

The contempt of Congress charges arose from an earlier inquiry, in January, by the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Brewster and the others refused to testify, contending the subcommittee had no authority to explore labor union activities.

Subsequently the special committee was created to inquire into improper operations of labor and industry. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is chairman of both the investigating bodies.

Brewster's fifth day on the witness stand was delayed an hour to permit his court appearance.

Executive Session Set

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said, meanwhile, the committee planned an executive session this afternoon to hear from Paul Dorfman, secretary of a Chicago Waste Handlers Union, and Allen Dorfman, Paul's son, an insurance executive.

The Dorfmans have been quizzed in earlier congressional probes into labor union affairs.

Allen Dorfman is a partner in a Michigan boys camp with James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union vice president under indictment on charges of bribing a staff member of the Senate committee.

Allen Dorfman's insurance agency handles a big chunk of labor union insurance and welfare plan business in the Midwest.

Early Spring Buds and Blooms Herald Coming Beauty

THE FIRST TOUCH of spring has heralded the beginning of one of nature's most magnificent beauty pageants, the parade of buds and blossoms which soon will burst forth in all their splendor to magnify the return of nature's most beauteous season.

LEFT: Forsythia comes to life early with tiny shooting buds which foretell the maze of yellow which soon will appear in delicate swirls.

LEFT CENTER: Nudging their noses up through the fertile ground as the first harbingers of spring are the crocuses whose graceful petals give a widespread ovation to nature's season of rebirth.

RIGHT CENTER: Pussy willows with warm fuzziness decorate many a garden fence and provide a sure revelation that balmy days are not far distant.

RIGHT: Pastel hyacinth buds, about to burst forth into tiny bell-shaped flowers, add another touch to nature's colorful spring pageant. Their uplifted heads eagerly greet the warmth of the sun.

Disappears Near Japan; Hope Fading

75,000 Square Miles Of Sea Combed for U.S. Military Craft

TOKYO, Saturday (AP) — One of the greatest air-sea searches the Far East has ever seen swung into its second day today for 67 Americans on a U. S. military transport plane which disappeared just before reaching Japan.

More than 70 planes and about a dozen Japanese and American ships were posed to criss - cross thousands of square miles of the Pacific Ocean southeast of Japan. Cloudy skies and rain squalls which limited visibility Friday gave promise of lifting.

Hope Dims

Hope dimmed after the first day's search failed to find the plane or survivors in the 120-mile wide corridor stretching 300 miles southeast of Tokyo where the plane was believed to have gone down early Friday. Nevertheless the search continued through the night.

Thirty - foot swells also hampered the rescue ships.

The search area was to be expanded today to cover approximately 75,000 square miles.

Some Japanese aviation experts speculated the plane might have crashed on one of a chain of volcanic islands southeast of Tokyo.

The four-engine C97, military version of the Boeing Stratocruiser, left Wake Island Thursday afternoon for Tokyo on the last leg of a flight from Travis Air Force Base near San Francisco, Calif.

The Air Force said 57 passengers and a crew of 10 were aboard the plane, with the passengers including 27 Air Force personnel; 17 Army and 10 Navy men; 2 civilian government employes, both men; and a woman military dependent, presumably the wife of a serviceman stationed in Japan.

The crew, which included at least one woman, all were members of the Air Force. The plane was operated by the Military Air Transport Service (MATS).

Last Reported Position

The plane's last reported position was 200 miles southeast of the big MATS terminal in Tokyo, at 12:15 a. m. (9:15 a. m., CST, Thursday). The radio report gave no indication of any trouble and the plane was expected in Tokyo on schedule, two hours later.

The Air Force said the plane had enough fuel for only about 3½ hours flying past its scheduled arrival time.

As soon as the plane was overdue, a sea and air search was launched in the predawn darkness. Life rafts aboard the plane were equipped with flares and flashlights and most rafts aboard transpacific planes carry emergency radio transmitters for broadcasting SOS signals.

Throughout the day, however, monitors picked up no distress calls.

One expert said if the plane did ditch in 30-foot seas, it almost certainly cracked up and sank quickly, possibly before life rafts could be launched.

Atomic Buildup for Britain

Macmillan To Get Pledge of U.S. Aid

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — President Eisenhower called in his top military and diplomatic advisers today to shape plans for assuring Prime Minister Macmillan that the United States will help Britain develop a streamlined army with atomic striking power.

The President and Macmillan turned to the problem of bolstering Britain's atomic military might after reaching what was called here a "gratifying measure of agreement" on the whole range of Middle East problems.

Officials said the military issues boil down to how much Britain is going to cut its forces and what can be done to increase the power of those remaining in uniform by providing them with atomic weapons.

U. S. Help Assured

Eisenhower was expected to assure Macmillan of U.S. help in developing a mightier force with fewer men under arms.

After four hours of negotiations in two sessions on the Middle East, spokesmen for the President and Prime Minister announced they had discovered a "gratifying measure of agreement."

U.S. officials stressed, however, that for the moment the United States is backing U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold fully in his Cairo talks with Egyptian President Nasser and that no final decision will be made until Hammarskjold has reported to the United Nations.

Formula Studied

The Middle East ground covered in Thursday's opening sessions of the Big Two Bermuda meeting included consideration of a suggested formula for resolving the immediate problem of the Gaza Strip by getting U.N. Emergency Force troops spotted at key points on both sides of the Israeli-Gaza border. The plan also would make the U.N. force responsible for security inside the strip, with Egypt retaining civilian administration of the area.

Navy Bomber Breaks Record

Bids for Speed Mark, Fails but Sets Another

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Failing to set a Los Angeles-to-New York speed record, a twin-engine Navy jet bomber turned around and flew back to Los Angeles to establish a new round-trip record of 9 hours 35 minutes 48 seconds, and an east-to-west record of 5 hours 14 minutes 57.80 seconds.

Piloting the Douglas Skyraider was Cmdr. Dale W. Cox Jr., Spirit Lake, Idaho. His crew was Lt. Russell Baum, the copilot, Baltimore, and Marine T. Sgt. Robert L. Butts, Mayville, N.Y.

Final Efforts To Abolish JP Courts Slated

Rep. Robinson Heads Studies of Expansion For Municipal Judges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Final stages of a drive to eliminate justice of the peace courts in Ohio get under way in the Legislature next week.

The House Judiciary Committee opens hearings Tuesday and Wednesday on 16 bills to expand jurisdiction of municipal courts.

Two weeks later the committee expects to start consideration of measures to create county courts with jurisdiction in all territory outside municipal courts

Enactment of the proposals would spell the doom of 516 J. P. courts remaining in the state, said Chairman Kenneth A. Robinson (R-Marion).

Ohio had about 1,100 squires until the Legislature two years ago took them off the "fee system" and told county commissioners to set their salaries.

Peace justices in Belmont County challenged the act and lower courts said the Legislature could not delegate salary fixing powers. The case now is pending in the Ohio Supreme Court on appeal. A decision could come down before the Legislature adjourns.

Robinson said it would be impossible for the Legislature to set the pay of more than 500 squires whose salaries now range from $1 to $8,000 a year.

But the Legislature can abolish their jobs and that, he said, is what will happen if the bill to create county courts wins enactment.

County courts, he explained, would take over the work of J.P.'s in both civil and criminal cases. They would have sole jurisdiction in money cases up to $100 and

Continues Cairo Talks

Dag Presses New Demand on Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is reported demanding Israeli withdrawal from the El Auja triangle in the Negeb Desert as an essential step toward Israeli-Egyptian peace.

Israel is expected to refuse.

Hammarskjold today went into the second day of his conferences with Egyptian officials on the operation of the Suez Canal and Israeli-Arab tensions threatening a renewal of Middle East fighting.

Meets With Fawzi

Hammarskjold met this morning for the second time with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

The secretary general met for six hours Thursday night with Egyptian President Nasser. He and his aides refused to say what was discussed, but other sources indicated the meeting was devoted mainly to each man's feeling out the other's position.

Hammarskjold's reported belief that the Israelis must quit the El Auja triangle is in line with his firm view that both Israel and the Arabs must adhere strictly to the 1949 armistice, which ended the Palestine War, if friction is to be reduced.

In Disputed Border Area

The 19-mile-long El Auja triangle lies along the border between Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and Israel's Negeb territory. Because it straddles some much-used desert trails, the armistice said it should be demilitarized.

In 1955 Egyptians accused the Israelis of occupying the triangle. The Israelis countered by saying they had sent in only police units for protection because Egyptian troops had taken up positions close to the border on the Sinai side.

Hammarskjold was said to favor complete withdrawal by Israel from the area. He recently reported to the United Nations that units of the U. N. Emergency Force (UNEF) could be stationed in the triangle.

In Jerusalem, official circles said Israel does not want to quit the triangle unless Egypt reverses its attitude of belligerency toward Israel, in defiance of the armistice.

Chicago Blaze Routs Mayor, City Employes

Government Building Heavily Damaged by Fast-Spreading Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A fast-moving, spectacular fire swept through sections of the block square City-County Building in the Loop Thursday night, routing more than 100 persons, including the mayor.

More than a score of persons were led or carried to safety, many of them down ladders, from the 12-story structure. Included were several women who were trapped in upper floors.

The extra-alarm fire was confined to the extreme northwest corner of the building on the second and third floor, the City Hall half of the structure. City offices are located in the west half of the 48 - year - old building, Cook County offices in the east half.

Three firemen and a telephone repairman were injured, none seriously, in the extra-alarm fire which attracted thousands of spectators. The fire broke out shortly after 6 p. m. and was brought under control in less than two hours.

Damage to the grey stone building, covering the block bounded by Randolph, LaSalle, Washington and Clark streets, was estimated at $250,000 by Mayor Richard J. Daley. The cause of the fire was

Sickles Faces First Hearing Here Tuesday

Preliminary hearing for James Patrick Sickles, 31-year-old burglar suspect from Newark who was shot down in a running gun battle with Marion police Feb. 13, has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Sickles entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment Thursday in Marion Municipal Court. The arraignment was held following his release from Marion General Hospital.

Following his plea, Sickles was taken to the county jail where he is being held under $20,000 bond. He will face charges of burglary, possession of burglary tools and shooting with intent to kill.

Miss Virginia Weiss, a Newark attorney, is representing Sickles, court officials reported.

Sickles was wounded five times by police in a chase through downtown Marion after he was surprised while allegedly burglarizing Carl's Auto Parts warehouse on Oak St.

During the chase, Patrolman Marshall Wilds was wounded in the upper left chest. He returned to duty last week.

Services Worth $20,000

Industries Offer To Aid With Pool Construction

Three local industrial companies have pledged a total of $20,000 in materials and services toward construction of the proposed community swimming pool, officials of the Marion Community Swimming Pool, Inc., reported today. The industries have asked to remain anonymous.

Although pledges continue to be received daily, T. L. Hufert, co-chairman of the fund raising committee, said no tabulation has been made since Tuesday's report of $10,000 toward the $175,000 goal.

Pool officials said a breakdown in pledge receipts shows that 88 per cent of the money promised has been pledged from within the city while 12 per cent has come from smaller communities in the county.

Mr. Hufert stressed that the pool would benefit the entire county and should be considered a countywide project.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were to continue "talking up" the pledge campaign tonight with the use of sound trucks throughout the city and county.

A chain telephone system whereby residents will remind their friends and they in turn remind others to mail their pledge cards has been instigated by the pool officials.

Boy Scout troops from all areas of the county will show their support of the fund campaign by distributing leaflets next week reminding persons to beat the April 1 deadline with their mailing of pledges.

Mr. Hufert explained that pledges will be collected only if the total is large enough to assure construction of the pool.

Backscrubbers Strike

TOKYO (AP)—More than one million persons here had to go without their regular baths today. About 7,000 bathhouse owners and the boys who scrub the backs of both men and women bathers gathered to demand a five yen (1.4 cents) increase in government-fixed rates.

Property Owners To Ask New Sewer

Petitions asking for installation of a sanitary sewer, construction of curbs and gutters and repaving of Forest Lawn Dr. from Mt. Vernon Ave. south to the city limits probably will be presented to Marion City Council Monday, Mayor Gale D. Ireland said today.

He said that owners of eight properties along the 723-foot length of the street inside the city limits already have indicated they will sign the petitions and submit them to council for further action.

Construction of the sanitary sewer would mean extension of the new sanitary trunk sewer which is to be constructed in Forest Lawn Blvd. from Indiana Ave. south to Mt. Vernon Ave. It will be a 30-inch sewer and the portion south from Mt. Vernon is recommended in the city's sewer report to be a 24-inch sewer. The property owners would be required to pay the cost of an 8-inch sewer and the rest of the city cost would be paid by the city.

Expense High In Upper Auto Training Class

UPPER SANDUSKY — According to Harold U. Cope, Upper Sandusky School superintendant, it costs five times as much to have a student in Driving Training for a semester than it does to have a student in a regular non-laboratory class, such as history.

Between one-third and one-half of this year's graduating class have had driver-training.

Although driver-training is one of the fastest growing subjects in high school curriculum in Ohio, its expansion is still limited to some extent by the expense and sometimes the school schedule.

Ohio ranks amoug the leading states in the country offering the driver-education course. Some 707 schools are now offering the course on a voluntary basis. Only eight states, California, Delaware, Florida, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Washington have financed driver-training for teenagers.

Mr. Cope said, "If driver-training becomes compulsory, Upper Sandusky would need two teachers, two cars and a full day schedule.

"We now have a teacher spending 18 periods a week and one car," he added. The required amount of time spent in the classroom by the students is thirty-six spent in the car, eighteen hours observing and six hours driving.

Cars are furnished free by the dealers. The school buys the gasoline and insurance. On one car, the school board pays $92.16 a year for insurance.

Other business included plans for attending a meeting of the Marion Horse Association next week to discuss forthcoming activities including the annual horse show.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison

SIMON The Zealot

"... and Simon called Zelotes."

—Luke VI:15

Aside from this brief reference (and similar references in the other Gospels), the New Testament tells us very little of Simon, except that he was called by Jesus to be one of the twelve disciples.

Luke indicates that he was a member of the Zealots, a Jewish sect which adhered strictly to Mosaic ritual, and advocated the assertion of religious liberty by force of arms.

Elsewhere he is called the Canaanite, referring not to the place of his birth, but to the Hebrew word signifying "to be zealous." Luke, who wrote his Gospel in Greek, merely used the Greek term meaning the same thing.

The sect of Zealots is believed to have been organized by a fierce patriot known as Judas the Galilean who, when Judea was made a Roman province, publicly urged the people to resist Roman rule, and to refuse to pay taxes.

The Jewish historian, Josephus, paints a very derogatory picture of the Zealots in their later history during the siege of Jerusalem under Vespasian.

According to his account, they assassinated many of the most eminent citizens of the Holy City, and created such internecine conflicts among the Jews that they fell easy prey to the Roman attackers.

Even the Zealots themselves were divided into two factions, the historian relates, whose struggles among themselves hastened the fall of Jerusalem.

It may well be that Simon the Zealot was one of the followers of Jesus who believed that He might be a political deliverer who would overthrow the hated rule of Rome.

In one of his most widely quoted poems, the American poet, Ezra Pound, tried to imagine the thoughts of Simon the Zealot, following the Crucifixion. The work is called, "Ballad of the Goodly Fere," and one of the stanzas quotes the disciple as saying:

"A master of men was the Goodly Fere
A mate of the wind and sea.
If they think they ha' slain our Goodly Fere
They are fools eternally."

Farm Transportation Group Seeking Survey

WASHINGTON (AP)—An advisory committee on farm transportation wants the government to study the possibilities of transporting West Coast fresh fruits and vegetables to Midwest and Eastern markets by motor trucks.

Most of this produce moves by refrigerated railway cars. The committee, which works with the Agriculture Department on research in transportation, also called for expanded studies to improve protection of perishable farm products during transit by rail, truck and water.

Burma in Danger, Nationalist China Ambassador Says

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Nationalist China's ambassador today quoted Prime Minister U Nu of Burma as saying "Red China can take over Burma without difficulty."

Ambassador Hollington K. Tong said U Nu told American friends he would urge his people to fight and "as for himself he would take a plane and fly to the United States for security."

The ambassador made this statement in a speech prepared for a model United Nations General Assembly at Anderson College.

"All that is needed to turn Burma into a Red country is a word from Peiping," he said. "A telephone call to Peiping's agents, and there will be instant uprisings to destroy the legitimate government of Burma."

15 MSU Students Are Penalized for Wild Celebration

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Ten male students and five coeds were penalized today for a boisterous celebration last Saturday night of the Michigan State University basketball victory over Kentucky.

Seven male students were suspended for an indefinite period. This means they cannot attend classes during the spring term but can apply for readmission in the future.

Three other male students and five coeds were placed on strict disciplinary probation by the faculty committee on student conduct. This amounts to a ban on any social activity.

A crowd of nearly 1,000 students mobbed through the campus after they heard of the surprise Spartan basketball victory at Lexington, Ky. Some surged toward a women's domitory shouting "we want panties," and some underthings were thrown out of windows by cooperative coeds.

4 Options Are Available Now For Reserve, Guard Enlistees

A new enlistment program for the U.S. Army Reserve and National Guard has been announced by the Department of Defense to take immediate effect, according to M-Sgt. William Parke, U.S. Army Reserve recruiter in Marion.

Options in the new program allow youths from ages 17 to 18½ to enlist with less than eight years obligation in the Ready Reserve. Enlistments for men up to age 35 also have been established

The Army Reserve program includes the following options:

1. Ages 17-26 inclusive, a six year enlistment with two years' active duty, two years in the Ready Reserve and two years in the Standby Reserve. Enlistees may obtain a 120-day delay for active duty.

2. Ages 17-18½, an eight-year enlistment with six months' active duty, three years in the Ready Reserve and the remainder in Standby Reserve. A normal 120-day delay is allowed for active duty, and high school students can obtain a delay of up to one year to complete schooling.

3. Ages 18½-25 inclusive, a six year enlistment with six months' active duty and the remainder in the Ready Reserve.

4. Ages 26-35, a three-year enlistment with six months' active duty and the remainder in Ready Reserve.

The National Guard Program offers the same options with one exception. Until Oct. 1, the 17-18½ age group can enlist for 11 weeks' basic training and remain in the Ready Reserve until age 28.

Spring Pig Crop Fails To Reflect Hog Price Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wary livestock farmers appear to be taking a cautious view of hog prices, which are running about 35 per cent higher than a year ago.

Normally such a boost in prices would encourage producers to step up production sharply in the hope of cashing in on the higher returns.

But an Agriculture Department check of farmers' production plans in nine corn belt states showed that the 1957 spring pig crop may be about the same as last year's. These states produced 71 per cent of last year's hogs.

The department liked what it found. Officials have been concerned lest the increased prices start another cycle of overproduction with consequent depressed prices, lower farm incomes and producer demands for government action to support hog prices.

Area Hospital Raises Wages For Employes

MOUNT GILEAD — A pay increase of approximately nine per cent was voted for employes of the Morrow County Hospital by the board of directors of the Morrow County Hospital this week Forest Porter, chairman of the board, introduced the schedule of pay raises.

According to Mr. Porter, it has been almost two years since the last general raise was given to employes Despite the fact that it will cost the hospital approximately $9,000 a year to grant the raises Mr Porter stated, definite action had to be taken on raises

Many of the older and better trained employes are leaving for other hospital or private industry, he pointed out

The possibility of raising daily room rates by one dollar per day in order to meet this general salary raise was discussed However no action was taken since members felt every effort should be made to find ways of cutting costs without impairing patient service Richard Holden, superintendent presented a study of room rates of 48 community hospitals throughout Ohio It showed that Morrow County Hospital's rates are among the very lowest in the State In comparing Morrow County Hospital with hospitals in Mansfield, Galion Delaware, Marion, and Mt Vernon the room rates at Morrow County were, in some instances, lower by $5 or $6 a day.

The board members voted to accept some new equipment from the Women's Service Division This will include a refrigerator for the hospital's pharmacy, a sewing machine for the linen room and some x-ray equipment

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe
Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.
To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.
And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.
Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.
It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Moral Force

There will be no trouble in the Middle East if troublemakers do not want it. That is, in effect, the message Dag Hammarskjold will deliver to Egypt and Israel.

It is the truth, and it is not over-simplified.

Trouble was implicit in the establishment of a national home for the Jewish people in Palestine, starting with the British Balfour Declaration nearly 40 years ago. But the Jews had a legitimate claim based on historic occupancy. Arabs do not recognize the claim.

It has been Arab resistance that has caused trouble. Hostility of the Arab bloc led by Egypt is causing it now. The Israelis are willing to accept the nonbelligerent status which the secretary-general of the United Nations will propose to both Israel and Egypt. The decision rests with Egypt. It is a test of moral force.

Moral force was given a hard setback when Britain and France violated their agreement with the United States (the Tripartite Declaration of 1950) to prevent violation of existing frontiers by either Jews or Arabs.

But the United States stood by its agreement, the only one of the major powers whose hands have been kept clean.

That is the strength of the U.S. position. It has not compromised its principles since President Wilson backed the Balfour Declaration in 1917 and since Congress agreed to it in 1922.

It is still the peacemaker in a situation where the peacemaker's role is thankless. It has stood between Arabs and Jews before when its only reward was to be criticized by both. It stood by the United Nations, the only agency to exert collective moral force, when Britain and France attacked Egypt.

Once more, critics are howling because the United States favors mediation. Once more they are saying that moral force has failed because it has not succeeded. But the critics have not proved and could not prove that military force would have succeeded.

Welcome News

The announcement that the Quaker Oats Co. and National Can Corp. will combine forces to build and operate a can plant here is another welcome piece of news for Marion industry and business.

This plant, which will be constructed across the street from the local Ken-L-Products plant and will serve that factory by an overhead conveyor across West Center St., has been in the realm of possibility for some time. It is nice to learn that it has become a reality.

The new factory will not be a large employer, of course, but it will have a force of 75 to 100 in the busy season. Beyond that, the modern new building will be a distinct asset to the community.

Operation of the facility by one well-known company for another highly reputable, forward-looking firm will be a happy situation for the city.

We congratulate Quaker Oats on its expansion move and welcome the National Can Corp. as it joins the Marion industrial community.

Circumstantial Evidence

Curiosity about the disappearance of Dr. Jesus de Galindez from New York City, where he was a teacher in Columbia University, grows more acute each day. He disappeared a year ago.

A refugee from the Dominican Republic, the doctor had written a thesis on the Trujillo era in the republic. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina has been its "strong man" since 1924. He became its president in 1930 and was succeeded by his brother in 1952. Trujillo continues to be its military and civil boss.

In the chain of circumstantial evidence that is being forged around him are the deaths of Sergio Benscome and Andres Requena, shot to death in New York, Pipi Hernandez, a labor leader stabbed to death in Havana; another labor leader, Mauricio Baez, who disappeared in Havana; Clemente Savinon, a farmer who disappeared in Haiti; Luis Arias, a journalist murdered in Haiti—and Dr. Jesus de Galindez, Gerald L. Murphy, a U.S. citizen who may have been implicated in the Galidez disappearance, died in the Dominican Republic under puzzling circumstances.

Not all the political violence in the mid-20th century is confined to the Old World.

Portland in No Danger

Oregon's Sen. Neuberger has taken the stand in the Senate racket hearings to defend the fair name of Portland, his home town.

As Jimmy Durante says, "Everybody tries to get into the act."

The fair name of Portland, Ore., is not in danger. Nor is the fair name of labor unionism in danger, as has been charged by some thoughtless persons.

What is in danger is an arrangement whereby cities like Portland and unions like the Teamsters can be played for suckers by operators who say they are public officials and labor union leaders may be in fact something else.

Portland is in no danger. Unions are in no danger. Some quick-buck operators, on the other hand, are in grave danger — and should be— not only in Portland but in all other places where they have entrenched themselves.

Complex Government

By David Lawrence

Division of Responsibilities Imperative Need

Sometimes — in fact, too often in government — the obvious is overlooked.

Today it is obvious that no one man can run the entire government of the United States and in the same sense no one man can run the Department of State, either.

Lawrence

The tasks are too big, and the position of the United States in world affairs is more exacting than at any time in its history.

A cabinet whose members are freed from administrative responsibilities and which could sit as a council to the president every day if necessary would help him shape national and international policies.

The problem in almost every government department is the same — the responsibilities have grown so large that no one executive head can administer and also have time to think about the making of policy.

Although the Constitution gives the president the duty of conducting foreign relations, this has always been delegated to a secretary of state.

He, in turn, has had to rely on ambassadors abroad with the natural limitations imposed upon them in getting promptly information concerning world problems.

But today, with intercontinental telegraph and telephone, communication is instantaneous. Cablegrams and reports by telephone and letter pour in every hour from all parts of the globe.

NO ONE MAN at the head of the Department of State can examine them all and have time for anything else. Also, personal diplomacy — direct contacts with the heads of other governments— is tremendously important and takes time away from Washington.

Congress has authorized a number of assistant secretaries to administer the different divisions of the Department of State but what is needed is a world policy council of which the secretary of state would be chairman.

This would be the policy-planning instrument of the department and it should not be left to staff men and subordinates to carry on.

The suggestion is not new but it has an even more compelling reason in the state of world affairs today than when it was first mentioned by this correspondent in an article on Nov. 14, 1952— before the present secretary of state was selected and when the whole concept was presented on an impersonal basis. Here is the way it was set forth at the time:

"Last May (1952) this writer was sitting in Gen. Eisenhower's office in Paris chatting with him about fundamental principles of governmental organization. The general listened attentively to some thoughts about present-day government derived from many years of intimate contact with the government at Washington.

BEFORE I BEGAN, the general had said:

"'I want new ideas. I don't know what the future holds in store for me but if I am called to a high position of responsibility, I will want new ideas.'

"The main idea that I suggested was based on this realistic fact: Our national government today has become too big to be run by one man.

"Even some of the big government departments are too big to be run by single cabinet officers to whom vast powers are usually delegated.

"Making the foreign policy of the United States nowadays is almost the biggest responsibility in government.

"It covers not just diplomatic relations with other governments.

"It covers also economic cooperation involving billions of dollars in grants, loans and trade relationships.

"It covers delicate questions of military cooperation affecting 50,000 boys who are drafted every month. All this has its impact on taxes and on almost every phase of our economic life.

"No such complexities have ever confronted us before in time of peace.

"The truth is that we need a policy-making board of five men in the Department of State, four of whom should be completely separated from any administrative responsibility.

"THE SECRETARY of state should be the chairman of such a board. He should have 'sole responsibility for operating his department and executing policy. But the views of the four other members as well as those of the secretary should be at all times given directly to the president of the United States, individually or as a group, orally or in writing.

"Five able men, paid adequate salaries, who are disconnected from all private interests and will give their full time to the making of foreign policy are bound to improve our international relations.

"It means a better chance for long-range planning and for thoughtful evaluation of the mass of data that comes in hourly from sources around the globe."

There is need also, of course, for a divorcement of administrative duties from policy-making in every one of the other major departments and particularly, in the overburdened U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

But the most acute need at the moment is to give the secretary of state a freer hand and the aid of a council of men of great ability and national stature to help formulate world policies.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

Professional Irishmen have taken the pleasure out of St. Patrick's Day, as far as I am concerned. This goes double for the breed found in New York City, where the professionals louse up TV programs on March 17 and a day before and a day after.

My idea of a heart-warming triumph is when a family that has lived in a basement house for several years finally can afford to build the house on top.

I never was more certain than I am now that the trouble in the Middle East is planned coolly and deliberately by people who make a career of disturbing the peace.

People shocked at the coffee industry's success in making the "coffee-break" a national custom apparently never heard of a carbonated beverage's more sensational success with "The Pause That Refreshes."

All the oo-ing and ahh-ing about sexy Hawaiian girls would stop if the girls would put on their clothes and take the flowers out of their hair. But on the other hand, if other girls are jealous they could go Hawaiian, couldn't they?

I never have violated my personal rule against picking up unknown hitch-hikers without regretting it. The one I picked up this week, because he was standing in the rain at a country crossroad ruined the racket forever. He needed ten baths, a dry-cleaning, a fumigation and a gallon of deodorant.

For years, while reading about the lavish living of Dave Beck, I have wondered if it was really true that dues-paying unionists are proud of being able to support their officials in style. If it is, the effect of the Senate investigation may be the opposite of what is intended.

I estimate that one paragraph in this column about the radar speed traps in Virginia and Georgia, which are relieving travelers to and from Florida of ready cash, may have saved as much as $2,000 in loot already and this second one may save that much again.

It seems to me the thing that kills comedians on television is nothing more mysterious than the boredom their own wives must live through. Nothing is funny enough to be funny time after time.

Women are the cause of all the standing about in halls that stalls the quick departure of homeward-bound guests. Men prefer to bolt from the premises; women cannot quit talking.

The most useful way to divide human beings into categories I know is according to whether they talk about things, other human beings, or ideas. A sure-fire prescription for a dull conversation is to mix the categories.

It would be rude and inconsiderate, but I would like to serve genuine lamb meat incognito to friends who say they can't stand the taste of lamb. They never tasted the real thing.

The only important difference between weather in the spring equinox and the fall equinox is that in spring it cannot get worse and in the fall it can and will.

When I hear decent public officials abused by goons who are incapable of contributing anything to the public weal, I would not bet on this republic's survival until 2000 AD.

U.S. Mideast Policy: 'Wait and Hope'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — Let's keep our shirts on and hope for the best.

That's neither a very positive nor a very imaginative policy, but it seems the only one the Eisenhower administration has had for four years in handling the Middle East.

Through it the United States has avoided a showdown with Egyptian President Nasser while he made threats, seized the Suez Canal, brought Egypt closer to Russia and inflamed Arabs against the West.

There's no reason to think it won't continue to be American policy.

The United States has not yet taken a firm stand on Nasser anywhere along the line except for blocking Egyptian assets in the United States and imposing some minor economic restrictions.

THE ADMINISTRATION can give several reasons for its use of patience:

It wants to avoid any action which might precipitate war, to keep Arabs generally friendly to the West and away from Russia, and to achieve good ends by reasonableness, no matter how long it takes.

But this policy of patience and no firm stand so exasperated Britain, France and Israel, all three of which wanted action against Nasser, that they invaded Egypt.

It is a policy which will turn out all right in the end if Nasser decides to play nice or if he makes himself obnoxious to his fellow Arabs and Egyptians by needless arrogance or dragging them into new crises.

THERE'S NO evidence at this time that either will happen. Nasser's doing all right. He has the support of Egyptians, Arabs and Asians. Since the invasion and closing of Suez he has been under economic pressure but it isn't killing him.

All he had to do for months — after the British-French-Israeli invasion — was sit tight, keep his mouth shut, promise nothing, and watch the United States struggle to get its three friends out of Egypt.

Because Israel was the invader, the United States took the position it was in no position to demand or get guarantees against future aggression by Nasser. By this reasoning, the United States could make no demands on Nasser.

THIS LEFT HIM free, once the Israelis cleared out, to resume where he had left off. He started pushing his luck at once. When the Israelis quit Gaza, which the U. N. had assigned to Egyptian administration, the United Nations troops took over there.

Right away Nasser argued the U. N. had no right to run Gaza. He sent in his own administrators—but not troops—to do that, thus starting to push the U. N. forces up to the line which seperates Gaza from Israel.

The U. N. troops are supposed to stay there indefinitely to prevent invasion across the line by Israelis or Egyptians. If Nasser feels strong enough to push his luck further, he may demand the U. N. troops get out of Gaza altogether.

He could do so. He has never publicly promised the troops could stay on Egyptian territory any longer than he was willing to permit them there. He may hesitate about this for a while. The U. N. forces are good protection for him.

THE ISRAELI army tore his army to pieces in its autumn invasion. It could march back into Egypt. But the presence of 6,000 U.N. troops on the Gaza line should make Israel pause.

If Nasser sent his troops into Gaza, the Israelis might attack at once anyway.

The Israelis, perhaps anticipating the day when Egyptian troops do move back into Gaza, have protested excitedly against the Egyptian civilian occupation of the strip. They got a chilly reception from the United States.

The administration has never said — publicly — that Nasser shouldn't occupy Gaza again.

President Eisenhower has also been vague on what this country would do if Nasser now bars Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. All Ike did was say, if this happened, the United States would join other nations in seeking a solution.

What isn't known—is how close Nasser's ties to Russia really are and how much he has done and will do as the result of Russian prodding, perhaps with promises of Russian help if he gets in too deep.

Free-for-All in Texas

By Raymond Moley

DALLAS — In a winner-takes-all special election for the Senate seat vacated by Gov. Price Daniel—an election to be held on April 2—Texans are embarrassed by a multitude of candidates.

There were no fewer than 23 until one withdrew, but the remaining candidates seem determined to stick to the finish.

The state of the law which permits this sort of scramble is no small source of embarrassment also to those who prefer orderly government. But two remedial bills in the current session of the legislature seem doomed to failure.

Only six of the 22 aspirants are regarded as serious. These are Thad Hutcheson, a Republican; Seatcy Bracewell, an Eisenhower Democrat; Martin Dies, presently congressman-at-large and a Democrat; Ralph W. Yarborough, three times defeated for governor and once for attorney general; John C. White, state commissioner of Agriculture, and James P. Hart, former chancellor of the University of Texas and former member of the Texas Supreme Court.

IN THE IDEOLOGICAL spectrum the first three of the above can be classed as conservative. The remaining three are "liberal."

Good judges of trends seem to think that the race has narrowed down to Mr. Yarborough and Mr. Dies. And I have found more sentiment for Mr. Dies and more people who believe he will win.

Mr. Hutcheson will get many votes from dedicated Eisenhower admirers.

A belief that he would represent the attitude of the Eisenhower administration on civil rights attracts many Negro voters. He was largely responsible for the drafting of the civil rights plank at the Republican National Convention at San Francisco.

He has a name well known in Texas. His uncle is a distinguished federal judge.

However, conservative Texans are doubtful about Mr. Hutcheson not only because they suspect him of the liberal slant of the "new" Republicanism, but because they fear that if elected his presence in the Senate might make it possible for the Republicans to reorganize that body and change the chairmanships of the committees.

THIS IS a special worry for Sen. Lyndon Johnson, since his majority leadership would be lost in such a reorganization.

His influence, which is considerable in Texas, may well go to the candidate who has the best chance of winning over Mr. Hutcheson.

The most favored liberal Democrat has until recently been Mr. Yarborough. There is plenty of evidence of labor money and activity behind him, and his campaigns, although unsuccessful, have made his name well known through the state.

But certain factors have turned against him recently. He will lose much of the Negro vote. His two liberal opponents, Messrs. White and Hart, will take from his potential. Mr. White is especially popular among farmers.

MARTIN DIES, famous investigator of communism in the Roosevelt era, has many advantages which are showing up at this stage of the campaign. He is better known than any of the candidates.

While he was out of Congress for some years, he returned in 1953 as representative at large. He has won easily since.

Moreover, conservative Democrats and even some Republicans prefer his proven experience and tested conservatism on public questions to all other candidates.

Interest in the election is not notable. Possibly less than half of the normal two million voters will turn out. This also can be counted as a Dies advantage.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mr. Brewster's Horse

We have been thinking over the admission by a top Teamster's Union leader that he used union funds to pay expenses of a jockey and trainer in a stable of race horses which he owns and it seems to us that the horse involved could be a skinner on which we once made a losing bet.

This one finished last and we think we now understand it. The animal, with union money behind it, underwent a natural form change.

Looking back, we remember he acted as if he didn't like the hours and was thinking more about working conditions than racing.

GOING TO THE POST he behaved wildly. (It could be he mistook the flags for picket banners.)

When the gate was opened he behaved as if on strike.

Going to the first turn we could see the beetle was thinking only of shorter hours and at the half mile it seemed to us he was worrying about pension rights.

Throughout the race the skinner was so slow it is now clear he was looking for OVERTIME.

AS A HORSE RACE enthusiast do you suppose that Mr. Brewster keeps wondering whether Sen. McClellan is good over a distance or is just a sprinter?. . .(We know a fellow at the McClellan probe who is such a hunch-player he went out and put a bet on a Florida galloper named "Inquisitive")

IN OUR BOOK the teamsters are as much disturbed and more so, than most folks over the exposures of top officials and believe that, if the charges are true, the "wagon" is too good for them.

Teamsters make it the hard way, all in all. . . Their calling is not a soft one and the rank and file know few luxuries.

Like the rest of us, they have wives and families and are honest and loyal, respecting the laws and upholding the American way.

If it is proved that their leaders made illegal use of union funds and were tied up with operators of slot machines, brothels, etc., these workingmen will be among the first to demand that they be replaced by leaders who wear no signs reading "Handle With Care" and "Use No Hooks."

—:—

WALTER WINCHELL leads an exciting and colorful life. . .One thrill follows another, and he is now in Hollywood doing a TV series "The Walter Winchell File," which could make "Dragnet" and similar programs look dull.

It's time for a new twist in those TV crime detection programs and Walter can supply it.

Six thousand dentists will attend a convention in Rome this summer. . .(Hope they have assured Italy "This isn't going to hurt you.")

Brotherhood and tolerance get a decided boost through Bob Briscoe, Lord Mayor of Dublin, who is a Jew and yet one of the real Irish patriots and leaders. . .Briscoe speaks Gaelic, has been a fighter for Irish freedom most of his life but "prays in the holy Hebrew language.". . .He can launch a drive for Zionism in the afternoon and go to a Knight's of St. Patrick banquet at night. . .He can order corned beef and cabbage with motzoth balls and enjoy Mulligan stew with herring.

He sees Irish leprechauns dancing to old Hebrew melodies and is a man of such breadth he can welcome McNamara's Band and the B'nai B'rith Violinists in the same parade.

IS DAVE BECK still reciting it "Hoffa league, Hoffa league, Hoffa league onward"?

Judy Garland is suing CBS for $1,393,333 for libel and breach of contract. . .How about putting the case on as a "spectacular" and using Judy's favorite number "Over The Rainbow."

Alan Lerner and Fred Loewe of "My Fair Lady" fame are suing the Ziegfeld Follies over a sketch parodying "The Rain in Spain" and "I Could Have Danced All Night," charging it violates authors' rights. . .Broadway is getting super-sensitive about such things.

Bible Words for Today

II TIMOTHY 4:7—"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." (King James Version)

The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, at the age of 90, described the event that furnished him with a text for his long and useful career.

As a soldier during the Peninsula Campaign in the Civil War he saw the sloop Cumberland that had been sunk by the Merrimac off Newport News; She had gone down with her flag flying and now only the banner was visible above the water beneath which she lay buried.

Wrote Holmes: "It was a lifelong text for a young man: fight to the end, and go down with your flag at its peak."

Paul's brave words addressed to Timothy echo the same spirit. He had overcome obstacles, he had accomplished his mission, he had remained faithful to his purpose. His life was one of conquest, completion, and fidelity.

Many of us go through life with our flags at half mast. But it need not be so. There are resources in Holy Scripture, prayer, worship, and service that will enable any man "to fight to the end and go down with his flag at its peak."

Traffic Violations Pile Up for Philadelphian

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—One traffic light pole, one electric light pole, one mailbox, a set of stone steps, a store front (on three occasions), two parked cars — all were knocked down or otherwise displaced by 18-year-old Lovey Berger.

He gave police this formula: a spat with his girl, remorse, a bottle of wine, a half-gallon of beer, a pint of whisky and a 1947 automobile.

Police made another reckoning: drunken driving, hit and run, assault and battery, reckless driving, and driving without a license.

Convict Files Suit, Says He's Illegally Held

LONDON Ohio (AP)—A 50 year-old London prison farm inmate who has spent a big part of his life in prisons has filed a claim in Madison County Common Pleas Court that he has been held prisoner illegally from the beginning

Carl Robinett, formerly of Cadiz was convicted in 1927 of stealing a rifle some socks shoes tobacco and a flashlight from a Cadiz store He spent the following six years in Ohio Penitentiary and was released in 1933

Robinett disappeared for the next 18 years but was picked up in 1951 and returned to prison for parole violation He has been paroled and released seven times in the past six years

He asked for release on the grounds his time in prison, plus his good behavior time, add up to more than the 15 year maximum his 1927 conviction carries

But Judge Gerald A Baynes of the Madison County court said the request for release is valid for two other reasons Robinett was convicted in a juvenile court although he was 20 at the time No indictment was returned against him

The case is scheduled for hearing April 5 in common pleas court

8 Top Scholastic Teams Start State Tourney Play

Cage Coaches Ask Boost In Schools' Share of Gate

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Eight of Ohio's classiest quintets moved into the state high school basketball finals today as scholastic coaches demanded a greater share of the state and regional tournament receipts.

Semifinals for the four survivors of 696 Class A and 349 Class AA teams were scheduled at Ohio State University's brand new St. John Arena, clearing the way for Saturday's finals.

The next-to-final round pairings, with all teams only two victories away from the titles, were:

Class A: Ayersville (27-1) vs Midvale (21-9) at 1:30 p. m., and Gratis (26-1) vs Bethel (27-1) at 3 p. m.

Class AA: Cleveland Cathedral Latin (23-0) vs Kent Roosevelt (22-2) at 7:30 p.m., and Middletown's defending champions (25-0) vs Toledo Macomber (22-1) at 9 p.m.

Seek Eight Districts

Directors of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Assn., at a meeting lasting into the wee hours today, voted to urge the State Board of Control to carve the state into eight, instead of six, districts ad send eight, instead of four, teams in each class to future tournaments.

The directors also urged that the present plan of paying a team a pre-determined bonus for appearances in regional and state tournaments be abandoned in favor of a percentage of the net setup.

Although they said the present expenses paid competing teams are inadequate, mentors said they were willing to go along with the current setup if the bonus system is enhanced.

They urged that, in regional tournaments, 20 per cent of the net gate receipts be divided into six shares, with the first round losers receiving one share each, and the two finalists two shares each. In the state finals they would split 20 per cent of the net into 12 shares, with the semifinal losers getting one share, and the four finalists two shares each.

Under the present system the competing teams in the state meet are paid expenses and $125 bonus per game played. The coaches figured that last year's state finals receipts were $29,769.16, and that 20 per cent of that, some $5,952, divided into 12 shares would be about $496. Thus each loser would receive that amount, in addition to expenses, with the four finalists getting $992.

Attendance Hike Seen

With this year's attendance and gate receipts due for a hefty rise, the coaches said the State High School Athletic Assn's share would not be less than a year ago and that "a much more equitable allowance would be made to the teams."

Middletown, with an unbroken string of 50 straight victories—the best in Ohio history—is going after its seventh Class AA crown, a diadem never won more than four times by any other team.

Coach Paul Walker's powerhouse, paced by two-time All-Ohio Jerry Lucas, 6 foot 9 junior, has piled up an 86-point offensive average in winning 25 in a row this year.

But Toledo Macomber, with a 41-point defensive average, hopes to put the brakes on the tall fellow and his mates. Macomber has a 22-game winning streak after losing its opener.

Cathedral Latin, rated No. 1 in the state in the final Associated Press poll, has 23 in a row as compared to Kent Roosevelt's 22-2. If the Clevelanders and Middletown triumph in this evening's contests, the last of the state's unbeaten teams, and the No. 1 and No 2 teams in the poll, will clash Saturday night for the laurels.

But Macomber and Roosevelt appeared nonchalant and unperturbed at practice sessions Thursday, and seemed capable of turning in startling upsets although their opponents are favored.

No team from Toledo or Cleveland has ever won the state championship, while Middletown has triumphed six times since 1944, four under Walker's expert tutelege.

The coaches, at their session Thursday night, said they thought any team which could fight its way through the field of 696 Class A or 349 Class AA teams into the final eight had a right to go to the state tournament, rather than risk elimination in a regional fray.

They also urged all coaches in the state's 1,045 schools to enroll in the association to make it a truly representative group. At present only 560, or slightly more than half, are members.

Braves Rip Chisox for 10-7 Edge

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Johhnie Logan, star Braves shortstop, may have been thinking of John Wesley Covington the other day when he suggested that Milwaukee's National League pennant chances would brighten considerably "if the guys in left field" would improve their batting averages.

On the other hand, Logan and Manager Fred Haney also may be putting the old squeeze play on Bobby Thomson, so the former New York Giant will start worrying about his job.

Two Drive in 5 Runs

Wes Covington, as a rookie in 1956, appeared mainly in pinch-hit roles but played 35 games in the outfield. Thursday he socked three homers. So did Logan. Each drove in five runs as the Braves overpowered the Chicago White Sox 10-7.

In other exhibitions, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-1; the St. Louis Cardinals ended a four-game losing streak at the expense of the New York Yankees 9-2; the Chicago Cubs edged the Cleveland Indians 5-4; the Brooklyn Dodgers rallied to turn back the Kansas City A's 6-3; the Detroit Tigers whipped the Washington Senators 9-2; and the Cincinnati Redlegs had their second big day in a row, tumping the Philadelphia Phillies 13-10.

Redlegs Win 20-6

The Redlegs, who drubbed the Yankees 20-6 Wednesday with 25 hits, collected 22 against the Phils, including a homer by Hal Bevan. Ted Kazanski, Roy Smalley, John Kennedy and Joe Lonett homered for the Phils.

Herm Wehmeier, Larry Jackson and Hoyt Wilhelm limited the Yankees to five hits, while the Cards scored six unearned runs on three errors.

A triple by Eddie Bressoud with a mate aboard, and a sacrifice fly broke up a scoreless game in the seventh between the Giants and Orioles.

Homers accounted for all five Cub runs against Cleveland. Ernie Banks drove in three runs with two round-trippers, and Gene Baker hit a two-run homer. Al Smith and Sam Mele homered for Cleveland.

Charlie Neal and Don Zimmer each hit a two-run homer in the seventh to wipe out a 3-0 Athletic lead and the Dodgers added two more in the eighth.

Grid Mentors Slate Study of All-Star Duel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio-Pennsylvania all-star high school grid game, to be played late in August, will be discussed by Ohio's football coaches tomorrow.

The contest, suggested by Al Clark, sports editor of the Harrisburg, Pa., News, would be a charity game.

Clark, formerly of the Dayton Journal Herald, will outline his plan to the directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Assn. at their meeting here Saturday morning.

The former Ohio sportswriter will suggest that 25 players be picked from the all-senior North-South All-Star squads which play at Canton Aug. 16, to combat a similar Keystone State team at Hershey, Pa., the following week.

Clark hopes to make the venture an annual one, with the game being played in Ohio in alternate years.

Clark outlined his proposal in a letter to Bill Kidd of New Philadelphia, president of the Buckeye scholastic coaches. Kidd's first reaction was that the game, if played after the Canton fixture, would hamper Ohio coaches in starting their regular practices, but he promised Clark a hearing and full consideration of his plan.

Celtics, Hawks Post Wins in NBA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics, who had been eliminated in three of four previous playoffs by the Syracuse Nationals, were 1-up today on their New York rivals as they waited the second game of the National Basketball Assn.'s best-of-five eastern division semifinal playoff series.

While the Celtics were rallying after a poor first period to clobber the Nats 108-90 at Boston Thursday night, the Hawks had to hustle at St. Louis to take their western division opener from the Minneapolis Lakers 118-109.

Syracuse led the disorganized Celtics after one period, 27-22, but Bill Russell and Arnie Risen then entered the game and Boston began to click, running up a 53-44 halftime lead, and boosting it to 83-64 after three periods.

Bob Pettit, who has been playing three weeks with his fractured wrist in a cast, scored 14 of his 22 points in the final quarter to help the Hawks overcome Minneapolis.

St. Louis led 61-49 at the half, but Vern Mikkelsen sparked a third period rally and the Lakers trailed by only two points, 88-86, at the three-quarter mark.

Boston plays at Syracuse Saturday in a nationally televised game at 2:30 p.m., EST

Memphis State To Battle Bradley in Finale of NIT

NEW YORK (AP)—When the pressure is toughest give the ball to Bob Swander of Memphis State and Yorktown, Ind. Three times this season he has won games with last-second points.

Thursday night he scored a field goal with less than a second left to give Memphis State an 80-78 overtime victory over St. Bonaventure in the semifinals of the National Invitation basketball tourney.

The victory put the "dark horse" Tigers in Saturday afternoon's TV final against second-seeded Bradley, which crushed Temple 94-66 in the other semi.

The valiant Bonnies had come from behind to tie the regulation game at 76-76 and go ahead in the overtime on Larry Weise's layup. Jack Butcher tied it at 78-78, then Memphis State went into a stall.

The Tigers called time out with 52 seconds to go. They continued to freeze the ball until only a few seconds were left. Then they shot and missed. The rebound came to Swander in sidecourt. He wrestled it away from a horde of Bonnies and flipped in the jump shot that won the game in dramatic fashion.

The Bradley-Temple game was a letdown after the exciting first game. Temple stayed close at 37-33 until near the end of the first half. Then Bradley broke the game wide open the same as they did against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday.

Bradley made 35 of 64 shots from the field.

Barney Cable led Bradley with 25 points. Guy Rodgers made 23 for Temple.

"How are you going to lick a team that hits close to 60 per cent of their shots?" asked Temple Coach Harry Litwack afterwards. He referred to Bradley's making 35 of 64 shots from the field.

"They were hot just as they were against Xavier and we didn't have it to combat their height."

Guy Rodgers, Temple's southpaw junior star, made 23 points, but generally he was not the poised performer he was against Dayton in the quarterfinals.

"We played him tough on his left," said Chuck Orsborn, Bradley coach. "You always do that with a southpaw. We used three men on him at different times, Johnnie Myers, Bobby Joe Mason and Chuck Sedgwick. They did real good."

Team Owners In Parley for Fight Strategy

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP)—Baseball's executive clan, voicing mixed emotions over pending congressional inquiry into whether they are sportsmen or businessmen, meet in a closed-door, special session with commissioner Ford Frick today to draft future policy.

While no announcement of what takes place at the meeting is expected, it was learned that organized baseball will set up a three-man-committee to meet with congressional leaders to discuss what baseball must do — or stop doing — to remain free from anti-trust legislation.

Three bills now are pending in Washington as outgrowths of the recent Supreme Court ruling which declared professional football a business. Baseball, twice previously declared a "sport" and not subject to monopoly laws, now is under study by the lawmakers.

At least one club owner, however, feels that the situation isn't as serious as some believe. Robert Carpenter Jr., president of the Philadelphia Phillies, said before today's meeting that "no one is going to shut down baseball. I don't think legislation, if any comes of all this, will be detrimental to the game. Baseball will still be around long after we all are gone."

Frick, announcing that the meeting was called to discuss the situation and hear individual views on the matter, took a definite plan of defense before the owners, but declined to comment on it.

Montreal Skaters Hold Point Edge

By The Associated Press

Boston and Montreal head into their final game of the regular National Hockey League season tied for second place with the same number of points and identical in victories but with the Canadiens holding the all - important advantage in goals scored

The Bruins deadlocked the issue again Thursday night when they blanked the pennant - winning Detroit Red Wings 2 0 in the circuit's only game Boston and Montreal each has 80 points and 34 victories

Should the Canadiens beat the last place Chicago Black Hawks Saturday and Boston turn back New York Sunday, the stalemate will be broken by the number of goals scored And in this department the Canadiens currently hold a 14-goal margin

'Y' Wrestlers Take Part in 2-State Meet

The Marion YMCA wrestling team will travel to Columbus Saturday for the Ohio West-Virginia wrestling championships scheduled to get under way at 1 p.m. at Ohio State's Men's Gymnasium.

The local squad will go into the tourney as the key representative of the mid-Ohio Area but will be underdogs with the teams entered from Cleveland and Charleston, W. Va. favored for the championship.

The locals have put together a 6-1 record for the past season plus one tournament title in the Marion Invitational tourney which put them on the top of the mid-Ohio heap. But the appearance of other powerhouses promises to make the meet the most rugged endeavor of the year for the Marion team.

The locals are in the best physical condition since the beginning of the season having been plagued with injuries during the entire year. But with McMurray, Thomas and Bruce back in top condition they will be greatly strengthened for this encounter, Coach Dean Ludwig said.

Marion will wrestle its entire team in the tourney with a lot of faith put in some of the less experienced boys who showed so well in the Invitational tournament. Starting for the "Y" matmen will be Chris Kimball and Dale Kibbey at 103; Allan Reich at 112; Joel Lenavitt at 120; defending champion and "Y" Invitational champion Bill Thatcher at 127; Bud Kelley, Marion Invitational champion at 133; Gene Bowman, defending state champion, also at 133; Don Haynes at 138; John Bull, Marion Invitational champion, at 145; Les McMurray, captain and Marion Invitational champion, at 154; Dick Kibbey at 154; Clyde Thomas at 165, and Bill Bruce at 184.

Last year's first year squad pulled an upset in the state fray to gain a second place award. This year with a much stronger team, but at the same time, much stronger opposition, the locals will have their work cut out for them.

"This of course is the culmination of an entire year's work and we can't help but feel that if the boys are up, they won't have much trouble taking home a trophy plus a few gold and silver medals," Ludwig added.

Wade Assured of Spot In Chicago Cub Outfield

By The Associated Press

MESA, Ariz., (AP) — In some quarters, rookie outfielder Gale Wade reportedly will never make it in the majors, but not so according to Bob Scheffing, Chicago Cubs manager.

"I know there have been times, even this spring, when Wade hasn't looked good in center field, but I'll have to take him over anything else we've got and you can bet he'll be in center field a long time before I quit on him."

Wade, 27, was given a tryout with the Indians in 1954 and he was in spring training with the Cubs in 1955 and again in 1956. The Cubs acquired him after the 1954 season in a deal in which Ralph Kiner was sent to the Cleveland Indians.

Braves Continue Effort To Swing Player Deal

BRADENTON, Fla., (AP) — Milwaukee Braves General Manager John Quinn says "there is still a possibility" of a trade with either the Philadelphia Phillies or the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves and Phillies have reportedly been talking a deal that would send Richie Ashburn to the Braves for Billy Bruton and an infielder. The Braves probably have offered shortstop Felix Mantilla, but the Phillies are apparently holding out for starter Johnny Logan.

The Cubs-Braves deal would put second baseman Gene Baker in a Milwaukee uniform with an outfielder going to the Cubs. The outfielder could be Bruton or Bobby Thomson.

White Sox Admit Need For Strength in Infield

TAMPA, Fla., (AP) —Vice President Chuck Comiskey and manager Al Lopez had a closed door strategy session from which Comiskey emerged with the report that the Chicago White Sox need infield help.

"To be honest, we've concluded that help still is needed at First and third base," Comiskey said.

"Some of our candidates must come along faster, although we're not going to be too concerned until we see what two more weeks of exhibition play brings out," he said.

Flywheels Slated For Safety Check

Final plans for their annual safety check were made Thursday night when members of the Marion Flywheels meet at the Ripley Motor Sales.

The check will be held next Thursday night at the Ripley garage and a club spokesman said any member missing the check without a valid excuse would be fined $1.

The club approved two amendments to its bylaws and fines. One amendment states that any member fined for a traffic violation must pay his fine within 60 days or face expulsion. The other provides that any member guilty of three violations in any three categories will be subject to expulsion.

Carl Tennant was approved as club adviser. Twenty-five members and four guests attended the meeting. Three of the four guests stated they intended to apply for membership when the club's roster is re-opened in June.

The annual banquet of the Marion Matinee Club was held in the Hotel Harding ballroom Thursday night with approximately 81 persons present.

Robert S. Brown, superintendent of city schools, gave an informal talk, and Joseph Whisler, director of pupil personnel, showed a film of highlights for the Ohio State University 1955 football season.

Colorful decorations graced the tables, intermingled with trophies and miniature statues of winning horses.

Guests who attended the banquet program were from Springfield, Troy, Mansfield, Delaware, Richwood, LaRue and Hilliard.

The board of directors announced that the club will hold a matinee race at the Marion County Fairgrounds the afternoon of May 30, Memorial Day.

Bull Sets Record

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A $25,000 bid set a half-interest price record for a prize-winning bull at the 14th annual spring sale of the Buckeye Polled Hereford Assn. Thursday on the Clark County fairgrounds.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Davis of Santa Fe River Ranch, Fla., acquired the half-share of "Cek Royal Domino" from Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Knowlton of Bellefontaine. The two-year-old bull has won six grand championships.

By JOHN CROSBY

Liberal Anachronism

"There Shall Be No Night" was originally written in 1939 and was about the Russian invasion of Finland, which was somewhat complicated by the intervention of Nazi Germany and contained all the latest twists of liberal thought of the time. Among other things, it contained such lines as: "You Americans are so righteous about the crimes of the Nazis and so lenient about the crimes of the Soviet Union. They are the same crimes."

JOHN CROSBY

While such an idea — that American intellectuals liked to apologize for Communist behavior which they found unforgiveable in the Nazis — was fairly novel in 1939, it is fairly ridiculous today, the scales having fallen a long time ago about Communism, even in the most left wing intellectual circles in this country.

However, as presented the other night on Hallmark Playhouse, with a distinguished cast headed by Charles Boyer and Katherine Cornell, all these embarrassing anachronisms of liberal thought were still distressingly present.

-:-

MY OWN ADMIRATION for the late Mr. Robert E. Sherwood, one of the most admirable and one of the dearest of men, is boundless, but I do feel that this particular play was more or less a burst of contemporary 1939 indignation which should not be revived now or ever.

It is almost like one of those old World War I songs: "If you don't like your Uncle Sam, then go back to your home o'er the sea," which should be sung only in fun.

Morton Wishengrad made the adaptation and transferred Mr. Sherwood's indignation from Finland to Hungary, where it fitted about as well as a Roman toga on Sen. McCarthy. It was a pity, too, because this was Charles Boyer's debut in live television and he was enormously professional and competent and impressive in a role as a Nobel Prize-winning scientist, which took every bit of his enormous authority to pull off.

NOT ONLY WERE THE IDEAS themselves more than a little dated, but this type of playwriting has pretty well had its day. It is a sort of play which is characterized by onstage arguments and offstage shooting. I thought we had answered that question once and for all by getting into the Second World War and into the Korean War. At any rate, as dramatic material it has lost its force.

There was a whole series of these plays, many of which seemed to have been written by Maxwell Anderson even when they weren't, and in all of them the hero says in the first act that getting killed is a futile business, no matter how noble the cause.

In the last act, he swings around to the idea that getting one's self killed, while still futile is absolutely necessary in some situations which it would be intolerable to live under.

The hero then goes out and gets killed, but not before writing a letter to his wife or his sweetheart or his son, explaining why he is doing this thing.

Then the letter is read by the wife or the sweetheart or the son and the third act curtain steals down on the shamed audience, which is left with the idea that each one of them should be out defending the barricades instead of sitting in a theater.

WHILE THAT IDEA may be arguable, I don't think the play writing is defensible. You set up an intolerable situation then point your finger to the audience and say: "What are you doing about it?"

"There Shall Be No Night," started out as a rather chatty and discursive exercise in parlor liberalism and, as the shooting outside got more violent, the arguments on stage more and more resembled speeches at the Students Union.

Miss Cornell's role in the midst of all this oratory was one of unflinching nobility, which seemed rather to have been carved in marble than written in English.

In the end, having lost both her son and her husband, she still held her chin high and she read that final letter with the charm and presence which amply reflected her 30 years as a great star of the stage. I devoutly hope she was paid a great deal of money for it.

Ocean Liners Battle Strike at Southampton

LONDON (AP) — Ocean liners steamed into the vast port of Southampton today and berthed without tugs or mooring crews in a growing "beat the strike" campaign.

Government mediators meanwhile intensified a last-ditch attempt to crack a nationwide shipyard strike and head off an allied walkout of 2½ million industrial workers scheduled to start at noon Saturday.

There were signs that Britain's other major strike threat, to the state-run railway system, might be averted by a wage compromise.

Labor Ministry peacemakers seeking to bring together shipyard owners and leaders of the 200,000 strikers reported "some progress." They called both sides into more sessions today, hoping to persuade the employers to make a specific wage increase offer and to get the unions to agree to an investigation of worker productivity in the 70 yards.

Southampton tug operators and mooring men struck after navy tugs took the liner Queen Mary out of port Thursday. The shipyard workers had asked the unions not to handle her, charging the Cunard Line had taken her out of a shipyard unfinished after their strike interrupted her overhaul.

Talk of a 4½ to 5 per cent compromise wage increase for the 370,000 members of the National Union of Railwaymen circulated after a meeting of union leaders and members of the government commission which runs the nationalized lines. The union, like the shipyard and engineering workers, had demanded 10 per cent and rejected the 3 per cent recommended by a government tribunal.

Auto Accidents

One person was injured in one of two traffic accidents investigated Thursday by Marion police. State patrolmen reported no accidents in the county.

Hurt when his car skidded out of control at E. Fairground and Decatur streets at 11:41 a.m. was Harold J. Stewart, 17, of 326 Madison Ave. Police said he was traveling east on Fairground St. when the car skidded sideways into a utility pole, snapping the pole. The car was demolished, police reported. Stewart suffered back injuries and was taken to Marion General Hospital for treatment.

The only other accident in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Harold W. Hall Ill

Harold W. Hall, secretary of local Masonic bodies and of the Marion Masonic Holding Co. and secretary-treasurer of the Marion Rotary Club, is in General Hospital for treatment following his collapse in his office at the Masonic Temple Thursday morning. His condition is reported as fair.

Mr. Hall, who apparently was in his usual health yesterday morning, was found unconscious on the floor at 11 a.m. by Harold Denzer, who had gone to the temple on a business errand. He was taken to the hospital in the Schaffner-Denzer ambulance. His home is at 412 S. Vine St.

TODAY'S ALMANAC

Sun rises at 6:31 a.m. and sets at 6:47 p.m.

'WELCOME HOME, DADDY!' Vice President Richard Nixon is surrounded by his two daughters, Julie (left) and Patricia as he arrives in Washington following a three-week African tour. Nixon said the U.S. must help solve the Arab refugee problem if it wants peace in the Middle East.

Ends 8-Nation Africa Tour

Nixon Returns, Stresses Arab Refugee Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon, back from a 22-day good will tour of Africa, is expected to urge strong American efforts to solve the Arab refugee problem.

Nixon returned Thursday from a 20,000-mile flying trip which took him to eight nations. He said he was "overwhelmed with friendship" in all the lands he visited.

But remarks he made to reporters during the 23-hour flight to Washington showed he regarded the refugee problem as of primary importance to any solution of the Middle East dilemma.

Question Persists

The question of the 900,000 Arab refugees from Palestine arose again and again in the Arab countries he visited in Africa.

Nixon told newsmen the refugee problem is "more important than I had anticipated" in connection with what he termed the "cancer" of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

"We must face up to the fact that there is no Middle East solution which does not handle the refugee problem . . .," he said. "We must devote every effort to finding a more satisfactory solution."

Although Nixon did not specify what steps should be taken he indicated clearly he believes the American government must take the lead in drafting a plan, possibly including the donation of large funds to resettle the refugees.

Living Conditions Poor

The refugees, who left Palestine during the Arab-Israeli fighting that broke out in 1948, have been living on bare subsistence in camps in the Gaza Strip, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria. The United Nations Relief Fund has been feeding and housing them for the past seven years. Arab governments have been demanding that they be allowed to return to their former homes, but Israel refuses to accept them.

On other matters, Nixon said Africa in the next 25 years will be a decisive battleground in the East-West struggle. Thus, he said a "higher priority" of importance must be assigned to that area.

Pre-Easter Services Scheduled By High School Young People

Members of the Harding High Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs are planning their annual pre-Easter services which will be held in the Harding High School auditorium. The services will be held the last week of school prior to Easter vacation, April 8 through April 12, at 8:10 a.m.

Each service is to be different and will be presented by a different group. Adults are invited to attend regularly.

The theme for the overall program is "The Christ of the Cross" and each day's service will have a daily theme exemplifing the overall theme.

Daily themes and co-chairman in charge are:

Monday, "Forgiveness," Bob Bagley and Sandra Leech; Tuesday, "Salvation," Charles Ziegler and Patricia Eby; Wednesday, "Love," Phil Rejd, Mike Dudley, Jill Howser and Joyce Miller; Thursday, "Suffering," Richard Penry and Becky Roecker; Friday, "Victory," James Lightner and Donna Eller.

Each co-chairman will write a complete worship service, select people to take part, supervise and organize the service for the day. No adults will take part in the services. The sermons will be given by high school students. The services will be taped by WMRN and replayed on the radio later in the day.

Supervising the program are the Hi-Y and Tri-Y advisers, Miss Ruth Turner, Mrs. Clover Linscott, Miss Nancy Leslie and Harold Hazelett. Rev. Irvin Emmons of the First Presbyterian Church and Rev. W. L. Stafford of the Wesley Methodist Church are acting as resource people to help the students arrange their order of service and assist the main speakers to write their sermon.

The services are a cooperative effort of Harding High School, represented by Darl Gatchell and Ray Silver and the Marion YMCA represented by Beryl G. Johnson, youth secretary.

Blaze

not determined immediately.

Heaviest damage was to the ornately - paneled City Council chambers on the second floor, where officials said the fire was believed to have started. Flames were pouring from the chambers before firemen arrived. Daley, who was routed from his fifth floor office, said the chamber was a "beautiful and historic room that can never be replaced." Chief Fire Marshal Albert H. Petersen, who reported the damage was at least $200,000, said the Council chamber's paneling was worth about $50,000.

Praises Elevator Operators

Daley praised three elevator operators, four telephone operators and eight fire alarm office workers for remaining at their posts in the smoke-filled building.

The elevator operators were credited with sounding alarms and taking dozens of persons from upper floors for more than an hour before they were forced to leave because of smoke and water. More than 80 maintenance workers were in the building when the fire broke out.

Some 200 repair and maintenance workers worked throughout the night clearing away debris and repairing damaged sections. Although the major damage was in the second and third floors, the flames spread outside windows and inner stairwells to the fourth and fifth floors.

As firemen fought the flames, four policemen were assigned to augment the guard in the first floor office of the city treasurer. Officials said the office contained about $20,000 in cash and more than 100 million dollars in bonds and other securities.

Man Bound Over

Albert E. Jones, 30, of Columbus was bound over to the Marion County Grand Jury under a $1,000 bond when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today to a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. He was arrested by Columbus police Thursday on a warrant issued here. The charge was filed against him by Daniel L. Jackson of Jackson's Market on N. Main St. The alleged fraudulent check was for some $15.

Driver Faces Charge

Bernard L. McGraner, 57, of 405 S. Vine St. was arrested by Marion police at 6:15 p.m. Thursday and charged with driving while intoxicated on E. Walnut St. He pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court today and a hearing is to be held later.

Hub Caps Stolen

Theft of hub caps from a new automobile parked on the Ripley Motor Sales lot on N. Main St. was reported to Marion police Thursday by Okey Ripley. The hub caps were valued at $9, he said.

$40 TAKEN FROM HOME

Theft of some $40 from her residence was reported to Marion police Thursday by Thelma Traxler of 225½ N. Main St. She said the money apparently was taken sometime Tuesday. There was no sign of any break-in, according to the police report.

Call for Budget Slash Boosted To $6.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) says President Eisenhower's budget, unless cut sharply, will begin "another spending spree which will continue inflation and increase the cost of living."

Denouncing the Eisenhower budget as "dangerous in the extreme" and "the worst yet," Byrd told the Senate Thursday it represents "a complete reversal of the retrenchmen policy to which this administration pledged itself."

Byrd, who previously had called for a five-billion-dollar budget cut, upped that figure to 6½ billions.

In general, he said three billions could be trimmed from domestic programs, two billions from foreign aid and 1½ billions from military-atomic projects.

Eisenhower's record peacetime budget contemplates spending of $71,800,000,000 and new appropriations of $73,300,000,000.

Byrd's call for a slash in defense funds was echoed today by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. In testimony prepared for a House Appropriations subcommittee, Perry M. Shoemaker said at least 1½ billions can be cut from the defense budget without "in any way impairing our national security."

Assembly

concurrent jurisdiction with other courts to $300.

Population Is Factor

The number of county judges would depend on population. The Legislature would set their pay scale. Tentatively, counties would have one judge for each 30,000 population to 90,000. Common pleas courts would fix the number of judges for populations above 90,000.

The House Committee chairman said he is working closely with Sen. William Tyrrell (R-Preble), who has a similar county court bill pending in the Senate.

According to custom, proposals to expand jurisdiction of municipal courts will be combined in an omnibus bill by the committee. Robinson reported. Pending measures would increase from 15 to 25 the number of municipal courts with county-wide jurisdiction.

The additional counties are Cuyahoga, Summit, Pickaway, Wyandot, Highland, Defiance, Clark, Butler, Richland and Montgomery. The bill dealing with Pickaway is pending in the Senate.

Other Bills

Other bills slated for inclusion in the omnibus measure would:

Create a municipal court in East Cleveland, Belpre in Washington County, and Fairborn to serve Fairborn and Bath townships in Greene County.

Extend Youngstown Municipal Court territory to include Boardman and Coitsville townships.

Summit County would be divided between the Akron, Barberton and Cuyahoga Falls courts while Hamilton and Middletown courts would cover Butler County.

Butler County

Before Thursday's adjournment for the weekend, the House unanimously passed and sent to the Senate a bill to designate 16-18 year olds who violate traffic laws as "juvenile traffic offenders" instead of juvenile delinquents.

The measure by Rep. Joseph E Lady (R-Hardin), former juvenile and probate judge would increase the maximum fine for violators from $25 to $50. They also would be subject to jail sentences appropriate to the offense.

Explains Bill

"This bill will improve the handling of juvenile traffic offenders and will allow for a more realistic recording of delinquency statistics," Lady asserted. Juveniles now convicted of traffic violations must be adjudged delinquents, he added. His proposal provides for dealing with such violations as misdemeanors.

Lady said that of 43,617 delinquencies recorded last year by the State Bureau of Research and Statistics, 16,698 were traffic cases, about 38 percent.

The Senate sent to the House with only one dissenting vote a bill to set up an administrative procedures code for Ohio cities.

History of Frustration

Behind that imposing title, according to Sen. Fred Hoffman (R-Hamilton), lies a history of frustation and annoyance on the part of the "little man" who has been the victim of high-handed action on the part of city officials.

Hoffman's bill would require cities to adopt rules and regulations—which have the force of law—in the same manner they are adopted by the state.

That means the cities would be required to give public notice that certain new rules or regulations are under consideration, required to hold public hearings on them and subject to appeals to the courts by persons who feel the new regulations would hurt them.

The same would apply to city-issued licenses of any type. Any aggrieved person would have the right to go to court to appeal against a city's refusal to grant him a license.

"This is the American way of doing things," Hoffman told the Senate in support of his bill.

native of Lansing, Mich., and attended Michigan State University.

He served in the United States Army Air Force as a pilot and was discharged as a first lieutenant. Prior to his army service he spent six years with the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors in the manufacturing division in various assignments.

From 1946 to June of 1955 he was with the Eureka Williams Co. in the Bloomington, Ill. Division. He was the director of purchasing when he left that company to accept his present position in July of 1955 with the Whirlpool-Seeger Corp. He is married and has two children.

ON THE EVE OF the annual campaign, David G. Howell, president of the Ohio society, declared:

"Every Ohioan will have an opportunity to help crippled children this year. In the real spirit of Easter, and of spring, we hope for the greatest outpouring of support from the public in the history of the Easter Seal campaigns. It is important that this should be the greatest campaign yet. Although medicine has overcome some of childhood's most important cripplers accidents have increased and, with expanding population, the number of children crippled at birth increases correspondingly.

"Fortunately in our democratic American way of life, each of us can help one of these crippled children walk through our own gift of a very small portion of our wherewithal. Each of us can know with certainty that our dollars have given a crippled child a chance at a full life, when we give to Easter Seals."

The 1957 Easter Seal appeal seeks funds to support a program of care and treatment services for crippled children and adults in Ohio. In the past year, nearly 18,000 crippled children and adults in Ohio benefited from those services.

Mr. Howell stressed "Seventy-four per cent of the funds raised during the annual Easter Seal campaign remain locally to finance services within the community where raised. The remainder goes to help support the state level and national program of service, education and research. Last year Ohio Easter Seal Societies helped 17,716 children and 638 adults along the road to rehabilitation."

Man Behind Wheel

By Victor Riesel

All right. Let's talk about the teamsters. But not the chiefs. Not the fellow with the Palm Springs luxury home amidst the desert cactus. Not the fellows who have a "rest home" at that lush California resort area. Not the baron of the race track boxes and his noblesse oblige when a fellow needs a clubhouse seat for the big race.

VICTOR RIESEL

Let's not talk of the fellow with the $250,000 home — with swimming pool and indoor theater to prove that the protectors of the proletariat have arrived. Nor of the men of $122-a-day Miami Beach hotel suites. Nor of the men of sleek automobile entourages across Europe.

-:-

LET'S TALK of the men behind the wheels this time and not of the "big wheels." Let's talk about the rank - and - file truck drivers whom recent health surveys have shown to be widely hit by kidney ailments because they sit so long and so tensely behind the wheels.

Let's discuss the thousands of men afflicted by arthritis because they're exposed to brutal winter weather and dampness.

What of those men whose sight goes bad, as surveys will reveal, because they drive with eyes on the highways the day long—and let's not forget the night?

What of the thousands of men whose arms and legs develop a semi - paralysis because they must keep their limbs in fixed positions so the huge trailer trucks they guide don't hurtle off the road?

What of the men of the new super highways? They are not supermen. Yet they keep droning schedules with train - like precision.

No longer is there a traffic light to break the monotony. Or a traffic jam to ease the muscles and tension for a few minutes.

-:-

WHAT OF THE ULCERS because a broken truck keeps them from delivery deadlines? What of the back ailments? What of the digestive difficulties because they eat on the run — or do you believe the legend that where you see trucks gathered at a diner you're practically on the Rue Royale and Maxim's, which Dave Beck thinks are so grand. But then he is a gourmet among other things.

Look into this and you learn that fully 20 per cent of the cost of all trucking goes into insurance. Slice a little for theft coverage — and you get a frightening picture of accident and injury rates.

In the trade there are "straw hat drivers." They refuse to hit the icy winter roads. They push a truck only in the spring and summer — and who can blame them?

Let's not forget the truck drivers who come in off the road and must wait two days or more for their vans to be unloaded. They sleep in the cabs of their vehicles. Or they put up in some flea bag hotel.

THERE WAS MUCH talk last Sunday about Dave Beck's devotion to the truck drivers. So loud and insistent was the union boss you didn't quite need a television set to hear him all the way from Tacoma.

So the scouts went out to see just what had been done for the working teamsters themselves.

In many cities we found locals with fine medical and welfare plans, some of which give the men the privilege of calling in their own doctors while the welfare plan picks up the tab.

In one city there was one small teamsters clinic. But that's all.

If Dave Beck, who has done so well in real estate with money borrowed, interest free, from the union, had built one hospital, we couldn't find it. Yet John Lewis' miners have put up ten modern medical miracles.

If Dave Beck has turned his real estate talents towards building one teamsters' low - cost housing project to match the high cost homes Teamsters Union money has bought for some of their chiefs, such a project has disintegrated into the considerable hot air now being generated.

Yet the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the Ladies Garment Workers Union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local, the Auto Workers Union and others in the Building Trades have, or are about to, put up about one billion dollars worth of good low rent homes.

DAVE BECK and company have such familiar knowledge of rest homes and resorts — but if they have set up one summer camp for exhausted teamsters, it is not on any known list.

Yet there are unions, such as the upholsterers, which have created special retirement villages in Florida and resorts in the Poconos for the workers, which is still a grand old word to many union leaders.

Who is doing what for whom?

Marilyn Monroe Silent on Reports She Is 'Expecting'

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe has refused to confirm or deny reports she is expecting a child. She says she considers that part of her life a private matter.

A newspaper story out of Hollywood said the blonde actress had turned down the role of Grushenka in "the Brothers Karamazov" because she is expecting a baby.

Representatives of Miss Monroe said she "is available for work if the proper vehicle comes along" and quoted her as saying she still would like to play the role of Grushenka.

The actress and her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, have been confined to their Manhattan home with virus. Through a spokesman Thursday, Miss Monroe said of the report she is pregnant:

"I have nothing to say at this time. I'm sure that everyone will agree that some things are private matters I just feel that this is one of them."

No Extension Planned On Polio Shot Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration says it does not seek to extend the federal program of aid for Salk polio vaccinations beyond its July 1 expiration date.

Surgeon General Leroy E Burney said that the Public Health Service would restrict its activities to testing and licensing vaccine after that date.

Burney told a House Government Operations subcommittee Thursday that the federal program, set up by Congress in August 1955, "had proved its point and there is no need at the present time to ask for an extension." The law provided funds for Salk shots for children and pregnant women.

The airline distance between San Francisco and New York City is 2,568 miles.

County Farmers Union Plans Dinner Thursday

Final plans have been made for the annual banquet - meeting of the Marion County Farmers Union. The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union Hall on Leader St.

A feature of the program will be the introduction of the four foreign farm exchange students now in Ohio for several months to observe methods of farming in this country. Stanley Hamilton of Indiana, representing the students on behalf of the federal government, will be the guest speaker.

A polio benefit dance has been set for April 5 in the hall. Both round and square dancing will be offered, with proceeds to be turned over to the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation.

Betsy Challenged

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

The new vogue for chimpanzee paintings—many collectors are now buying them as a hedge against inflation—has raised the question.

HAL BOYLE

"Who is the real dean among the world's living anthropoid artists?"

Betsy, who has the same phone number as the Baltimore Zoo, drew press raves after viewers at her "one-chimp show" forked out $125 for some of her finger paintings.

WELL, NOTHING has caused more consternation in the simian world since the revelation that bananas are fattening. Chimpanzees, like humans, are jealous of each other's success, and show world chimps all over the country have been denouncing poor Betsy as a fraudulent overgrown monkey.

The latest to get into the act is Zippy, 6 years old and the wealthiest ape in the television jungle. Zippy, challenging Betsy, to a real "paintdown" contest on any TV show she cares to name, issued this statement through Lee Ecuyer, his business manager:

"Betsy is a Johnny-come-lately at the art game. So she can paint with her little paws? Why even Pablo Picasso can do that. Let's see what she can do on real canvas, using real brushes (she can hold 'em in her teeth for all I care) and real oil paints. I'll even let human beings act as judges."

ZIPPY, WHO regards himself as both the Rembrandt and the Da Vinci among simian brush wielders, pioneered on TV with his palette more than three years on the Garry Moore show.

Some 100 of his paintings have been ordered by a department store here for his latest exhibit. They include "Mad Jungle," "Autumn Leaves in the Breeze," "Reflections in a Brook," "Depressed," "The Red Dragon," and "Every Successful Chimpanzee Throws a Long Shadow."

Zippy, who now earns $75,000 a year (more than John Foster Dulles gets for word painting), came by and gave me a free lesson.

We used water colors. After aping him carefully for half an hour, I began to feel I had almost a born chimp's skill at the easel myself.

ZIPPY HAS only one defect as a water color artist. He's too crazy about yellow. Can't get enough of it. After carefully brushing yellow over the cardboard he was working on, Zippy lifted up the palette and poured all the rest of the yellow paint on his palate. Then he swallowed all the other colors, too—red, blue, green, orange, black and white.

Zippy, who has authored four books, appeared in two movies, a dozen top TV shows, and currently is grinding out a series of comic strip adventures, is thoroughly democratic.

At the age of 2 months he adopted Ecuyer, 32, a former schoolteacher, and Mrs. Ecuyer.

Zippy, who has 200 custom made outfits (far more than Jackie Gleason, a fellow CBS star), lets the Ecuyers share his Freeport, Long Island, home. They have their own room and beds and eat at the same table with him.

Story of Battelle Institute Told In Talk to Local Kiwanis Club

The story of the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, its work and what brought about its formation, was presented in the program at the Marion Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Speaker was Richard J. Anderson, who became associated with Battelle in January, 1948, and has been assistant to the director since 1950. His assignments have included several trips to Europe where Battelle has laboratories at Frankfurt, Germany, and Geneva, Switzerland.

Mr. Anderson told of the Battelle family, who were imigrants to this area from the East. He said they started with a blacksmith shop and later operated a steel mill which was known as the Columbus Iron and Steel Co. and was headed by a Col. Battelle. This man became quite wealthy and when he died his son, Gordon, inherited his wealth.

The latter became interested technically and financially in the lead and zinc mines in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri but the first problem he faced in running the mines was that he could not recover enough of the metal. He set out to find out how to do it but faced many difficulties.

He decided that what the United States needed was a research company to provide technical information on all matters of the business, at cost.

Set Up in Bequest

At the age of 37, Gordon Battelle wrote his will, leaving all his money to establish such a company — the Batelle Memorial Institute. He died three years later in 1923 at the age of 40.

Mr. Anderson said Warren G. Harding was a member of the original board. The institute opened its doors in 1929 with a staff of 25 people, 11 of whom were janitors.

In years thereafter, great changes occurred in American industry and research. In 1937, Battelle became completely self-supporting with the endowment put aside for growth.

Now Employs 2,623

Battelle now is planning its 10th building. The Columbus laboratory employes 2,623 people. Both the laboratories in Europe are self-supporting and are manned by the native people.

Battelle, the speaker told his audience, is the world's largest independent research laboratory. It operates to provide research at cost, not to make a profit. He discussed one of the plant's newest facilities, the atomic reactor. He said it was set up to work on any problem in metalworking or the chemical field or in any related field.

Program chairman for the day was Col. John Thayer.

The speaker is a member of the Northern Kiwanis Club in Columbus. Guests included Oliver B. Hall and Joe Springer of Marion and Ray Wieczorkowski.

Elected to Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Herman Lass of Cincinnati was elected to the board of directors of the National Council of Jewish Women Thursday.

4-H News

The Clever Claridon Cloverettes 4-H Club met Thursday in the home of Karen Kimbel. Eleven members answered roll call. The program featured the initiation of officers, with Miss Kimbel and Emma Kinsler in charge. Nancy Kimbel was a guest. Plans were discussed on the question of whether the club should sponsor a float or booth at this year's county fair.

GROWING COMMUNITY OF FAIR PARK SCENE OF WEEKEND OPEN HOUSE

THE BEAUTIFUL NEW SWEETBRIAR HOME TO BE SHOWN BY G&G HOMES

103 WOMEN HELPED PLAN THE SWEETBRIAR!

SUGGESTIONS SUBMITTED AT THE RECENT WOMEN'S CONGRESS ON HOUSING WERE GUIDING FACTORS IN THE DESIGN OF THE SWEETBRIAR.

THREE NEW HOMES WILL BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC SATURDAY AND SUNDAY 1 to 7 P.M.

Fair Park, Marion's Fastest-Growing Community, will have three model homes open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 7 P.M. The popular Sunbury and Saratoga homes will also be shown in addition to the Sweetbriar at 536-542-548 Roberts Ave. Especially featured this weekend is the excitingly new Sweetbriar, a large and comfortable home that was designed especially to meet the insistent demands of the Women's Housing Congress for more space and greater livability.

This three bedroom, bath and one-half home will be available in either contemporary or traditional styling and in a great variety of plans and designs created by the noted architect, Charles M. Goodman, A.I.A.

"This is the finest home we have ever offered families living in this area," states G. F. Scantland Jr., president of G & G Homes, Inc., "and we are able to put it on the market at an unbelievably low price. It offers the ease of entertaining, the free and easy traffic circulation, and all the other features desired by the American housewives."

The attractive Sweetbriar features a 28-foot width. This new dimension in depth permits added space and a more comfortable room arrangement throughout the house.

Comfortable, pleasant entertaining is made possible by the large-sized living and dining areas in the Sweetbriar. Large parties can be handled easily and comfortably, yet the room arrangement lends itself beautifully to the right-size conversation areas. Extremely flexible furniture arrangement is possible, and everyone can suit his own taste.

An added feature is a guest closet that is conveniently located near the front door.

The dining-family room in the Sweetbriar serves both purposes very well. There is ample room to seat guests at even the largest of holiday gatherings. The sliding glass doors in this area afford an attractive view of the patio and provide a convenient access.

The kitchen is arranged so that it is completely shut off from the view of guests in the living room. Its L-shaped arrangement makes it easier for the busy housewife to do her kitchen chores and saves her countless steps.

There is a kitchen window to make that area bright and cheerful. Another advantage is that the mother can easily keep an eye on the children playing in the yard.

The laundry area of the Sweetbriar is located in the best possible place—handy to both the bedrooms and the kitchen. Yet it is off by itself, completely out of sight of guests. Its location also makes it easy for the housewife to take her laundry out the rear door for drying, without carrying damp clothes through the house.

The half-bath and rear closet of the Sweetbriar are features that the housewives and mothers especially wanted. With this arrangement, the children can come into the area of the house from the outside, take off their muddy boots and hang up dirty play clothes without tracking up the rest of the house. If they are particularly dirty, it is quick and easy to wash them up. Furthermore, the convenient access to the half bath from the master bedroom solves the morning traffic jam.

Two entrances to this half bath permit direct entry to the bedrooms without going through the living room, dining room, or even the kitchen.

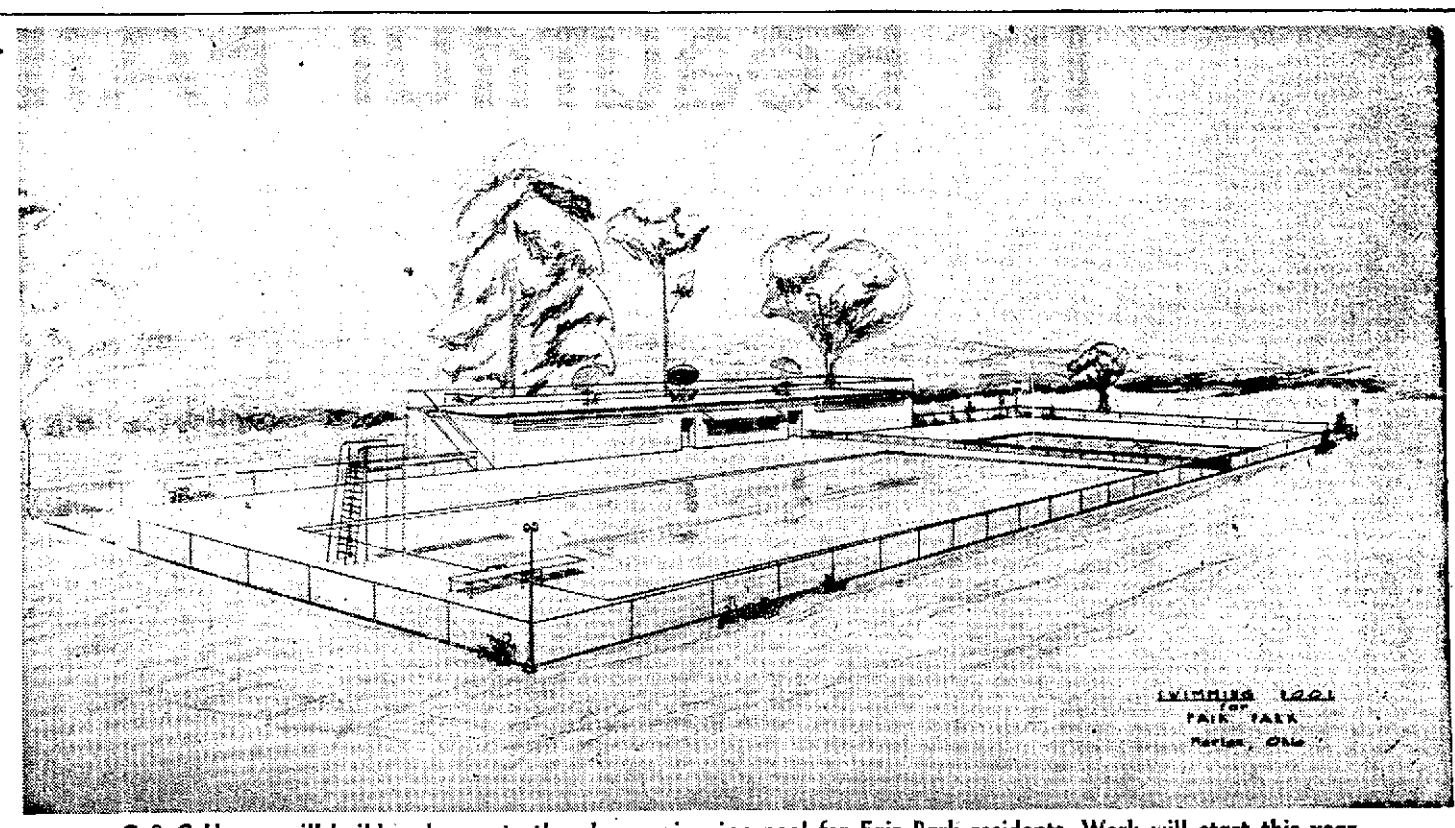
All the over-sized bedrooms have ample closet space and plenty of room for attractive furniture placement. The master bedroom will easily take twin or oversized double beds, plus a dresser, chest, floor lamps, and even a chaise lounge so the wife can also use it as a sitting or sewing room if she desires.

Fair Park is a fully planned residential area, with all modern conveniences. It is located just north of East Fairground St. running from Greenwood St. to the 500 Block on East Fairground and north to Williamsport Road.

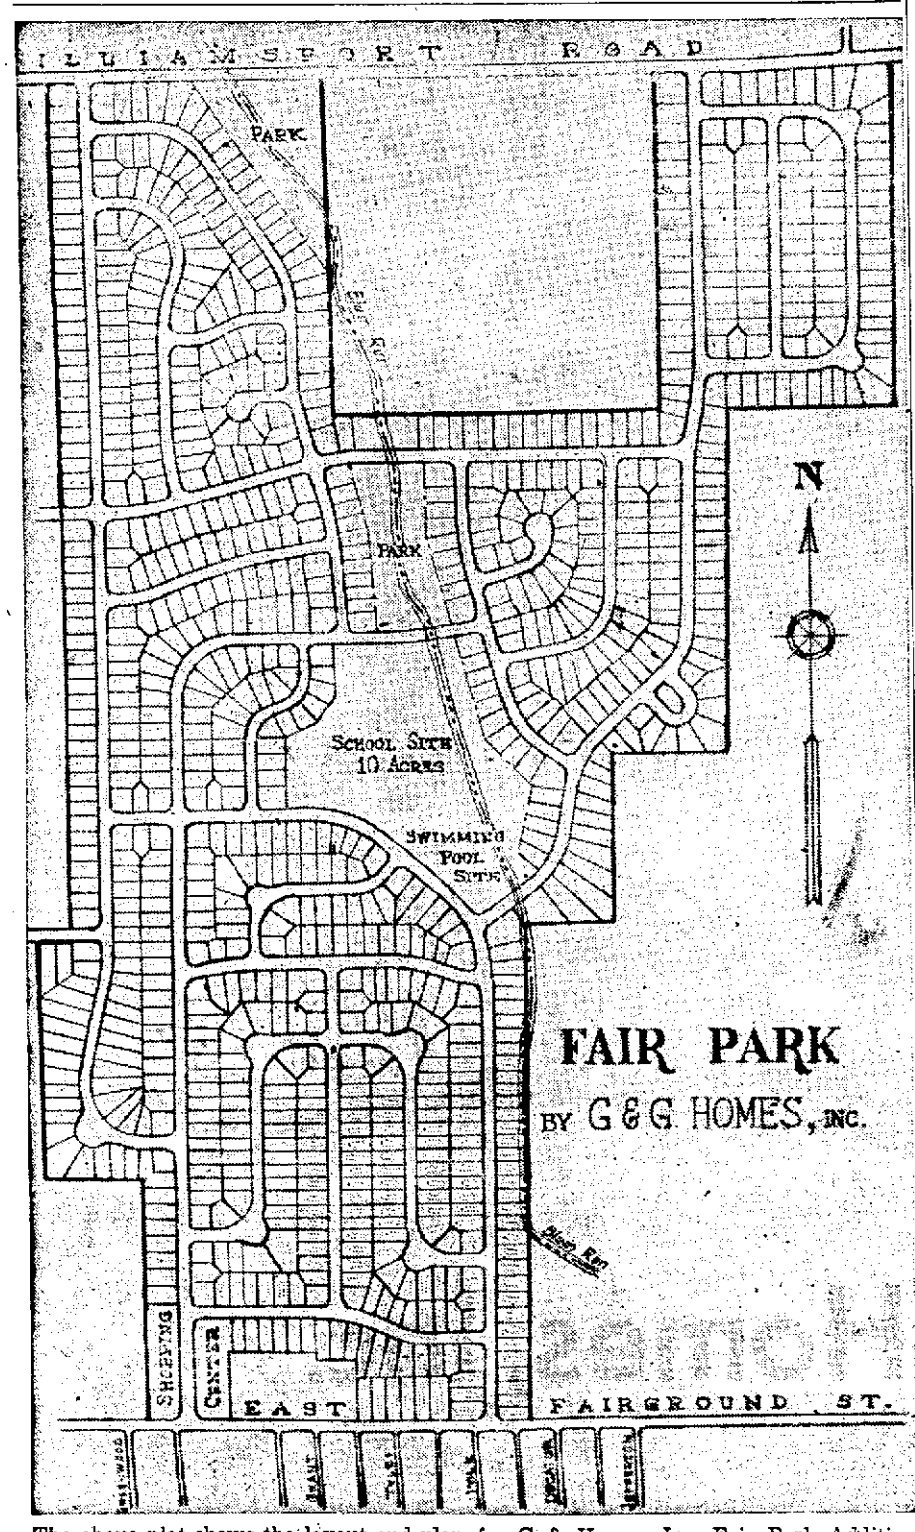
In addition to having all the features of a fine residential area, Fair Park will also have its own swimming pool, recreation parks, school and shopping center. In developing Fair Park the most advanced methods of community planning have been used. All the streets in Fair Park are curved to give the community not only added eye appeal, but to protect the safety of the children living there.

Every home will have all the city utilities . . . gas, heat, public sewers, etc., etc. These improvements have been paid for. There will be no future assessments to home owners.

Mr. Scantland has been the National Homes builder in this area for almost five years and in that time he has built nearly 300 National Homes. He has developed another large residential section which includes 146 National Homes, located south of Bellefontaine Ave.



G & G Homes will build and operate the above swimming pool for Fair Park residents. Work will start this year and the pool completed for dedication May 30, 1958, in addition to the main pool, there will also be a protected wading pool for the little tots and a bath house with a sundeck top . . . Refreshment and swimming pool supply shop.



The above plat shows the layout and plan for G & Homes, Inc. Fair Park Addition Featured are a wide variety of National Homes on concrete streets with concrete curbs and gutters. Each house will have a private concrete driveway. All planning for Fair Park has been done with the idea of building and developing an ideal place in which to live and raise a family.

CONCRETE STREETS USED THROUGHOUT FAIR PARK AREA

Suburban Atmosphere . . . Safety . . . Permanence Features of Modern Street Systems

"We are installing modern concrete streets, public walks and drives entirely in Fair Park," said George F. Scantland Jr., president of G & G Homes, Inc. "The modified curved linear plan we follow in our street design provides pleasantly curving streets for beauty, safety and easy movement through and across the area.

Located on the North East Edge of Marioan, with all the benefits of clean, quiet Suburban atmosphere, FAIR PARK is only minutes away from any place in Marion.

The Saratoga, Sunbury and Sweetbriar 1957 National Homes will be on display at 536-542-548 Roberts Ave. from 1 P.M. to 7 P. M. Saturday and Sunday, March 23 and 24.

All of the Fair Park Homesites, which are now open and being developed by G& G Homes, Inc., will be fully improved with concrete streets, public sidewalks, sanitary sewers, storm sewers and served by all utilities . . . gas, water, electricity. The cost of all improvements is included in the cost of the home and also includes individual concrete driveways for each Fair Park residence.

ROPER POLL SHOWS OWNERS PLEASED WITH NATIONAL HOMES

NATIONAL HOMES SEEN BETTER VALUE BY BUYERS

Most American families buy prefabricated homes because they feel they can get more house for their money, according to a survey of the first 100,000 National Homes families of Elmo Roper and Associates.

Seventy-four per cent of these owners give the better value of a prefabricated house as their principal reason for buying a National Home.. In general, they felt that they either got more for their money or it was the kind of living they wanted at a price within their means.

There has been a high degree of satisfaction among these owners with the quality of their National Homes.

"In our experience," Roper reported, "no product has had a higher percentage of customer approvel than National Homes."

Better than four out of five National Home owners said they would recommend a prefabricated home like theirs to a friend with about the same size family and about the same needs as their own.

"Further testimony to satisfaction with their homes," Mr. Roper added, "is the fact that a clear majority of the people we talked to plan to live in their houses not for just two, four or 10 years, but indefinitely."

100TH HOME IN FAIR PARK NEARS COMPLETION

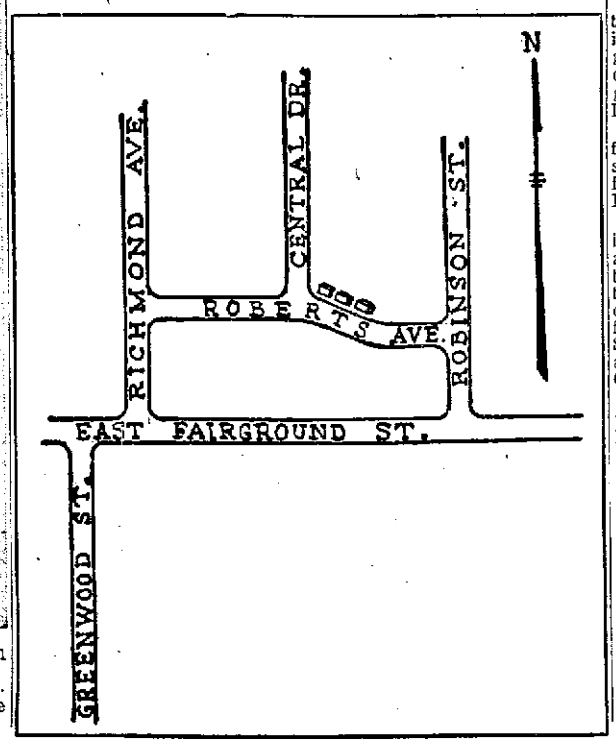
RAPID STRIDES MADE BY LOCAL FIRM IN BUILDING COMPLETE COMMUNITY

Less than one year has elapsed since G & G Homes, Inc. started construction of homes in Fair Park, and in that time 90 families have moved into their homes, with 10 more well along in construction.

SHOPPING CENTER PLANNED

Work is expected to start this year on a new shopping center on Richmond Ave., just east and north of Greenwood St. at East Fairground St., according to George F. Scantland Jr., president of the firm. "We want to provide the Fair Park residents with complete community shopping facilities and services," Scantland stated. "It is our intention to have a super market, drugstore, banking facilities, variety store, professional building, and additional service units, possibly including postal sub-station facilities," Scantland concluded. "Every possible consideration is being given to all contributing factors that will make Fair Park an ideal place in which to live and raise a family."

TO REACH OPEN HOUSE



100,000th NATIONAL HOME PRODUCED DURING 1956

AN UNPRECEDENTED MILESTONE REACHED IN BUILDING HISTORY

National Homes Corp. became the first home builder to ever produce 100,000 homes in the home building industry. This amazing feat is a monumental tribute to the sound principles of construction and quality control that are "part and parcel" of the National Homes Corp. and their builder-dealer program. Years-ahead production methods, plus the use of the finest brand name materials, assure the superior quality of a National Home.

The economies of this kind of an operation start with the mass-purchasing of the finest brand-name materials and household appliances —like kitchens by Youngstown and Frigidaire; heating and air conditioning by General Motors—Delco furnaces and Frigidaire air conditioners; Styrofoam floor insulation by Dow Chemical; Fiberglas wall and ceiling insulation by Owens-Corning; interior surfacing by U. S. Gypsum; roofing and exterior surfacing by Johns-Manville and so many others.

The advantage gained through volume purchases of these brand-name products is reflected in the lower cost and higher quality of National Homes. One important result is that thousands of families are now able to buy better homes, equipped with the finest modern conveniences, for less than it had cost them to rent comparable housing.

Enlarging on the basic advantages of prefabrication, National Homes has successfully applied to home building the great precision and efficiency of modern manufacturing.

All along its production lines, special-purpose machines, designed for the most part by National Home engineers, now operate to do the work not only faster but better.

One of the latest developments is an amazing nailing machine that can put into place as many as 22 nails at a single stroke of its power-driven hammers. It fastens ceiling and wall surfacing materials to the structural framing in less time than it takes to tell about it.

High Structural Standards

Under the more favorable circumstances of factory operations, every National home is manufactured under the close supervision familiar to anyone who knows modern industry. Quality control is maintained by a series of inspections throughout the operation.

The structural quality of a National home is a proven value. It is insured by tests conducted by governmental laboratories, Purdue University School of Civil Engineering, and the Robert W. Hunt Laboratories of Chicago.

The walls of a National home, for example, are built three times stronger than required by the performance standards of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

As a result of their superior quality, National homes have won the approval of building code groups throughout the country, including the Building Officials Conference of America, the International Conference of Building Officials, the Southern Building Code Congress, and the New York State Building Code Commission.

For example, National Homes uses No 1 kiln-dried, West Coast lumber for all structural framing. There is no better lumber for the purpose. It is straight and true and structurally strong. It is just right for the precision machines used in the assembly line operations.

Because of its large-scale operations, Nationally Homes can buy these top-quality materials at the best volume price at all times. This buying power works to the advantage of the home buyer in the better quality and lower cost of his home. He gets more house for the money, so there is greater value in his home.

Many national magazines feature special articles about National Homes in their April issue. These include McCalls • Brides • Living for Young Homemakers • House Beautiful.

George F. Scantland Jr., president of G & G Homes, Inc., poses with the Gerald Jones family, who purchased the 100,000th celebration home in Marion. They reside at 803 Robinson Ave. in Fair Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jones gasp as they open a box containing a new portable TV set given them by G & G Homes at a dinner party held in their honor after they purchased the 100,000th celebration home. George and Virginia Scantland (left) president and secretary of the firm, presented the couple with gold door keys at the dinner. Mr. Jones is employed by Whirlpool-Seeger Corp.

Miracle Plastic Blanket Protects Floor of Home

Modern home buyers are finding that a "hidden use" of the plastic material used to package produce also helps to keep their National Home "fresh" from the ground up. For many years growers and retailers of such items as carrots, apples, celery and other fruits and vegetables have known how to keep their products fresher for longer periods in VISQUEEN polyethylene film. The reason is simple: The plastic film aids the produce in retaining moisture.

Today, the same material is used by National Homes dealers to keep moisture in the ground, where it belongs. Placed underneath the concrete slab when construction begins, the film prevents moisture vapor from penetrating through the slab and into the house. Thus, while the plastic is hidden from view once the house is constructed, its presence assures the occupants years of comfort and freedom from costly repairs resulting from moisture vapor. VISQUEEN polyethylene film is manufactured by Visking Company, Terre Haute, Ind., a division of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation.

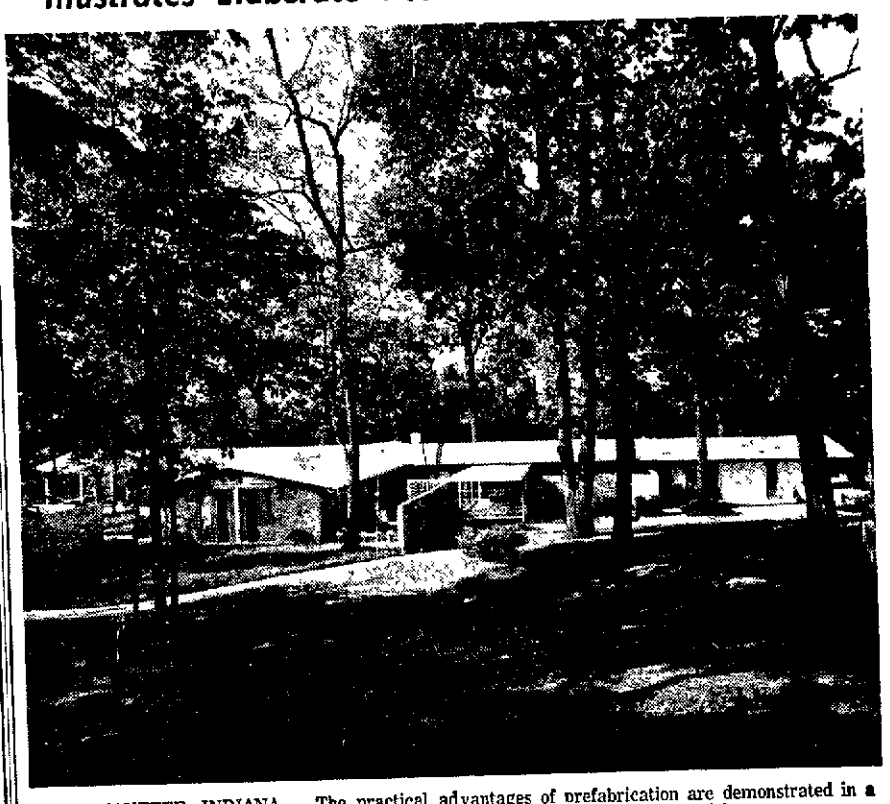
BEAUTIFUL INDIANA NATIONAL HOME
Illustrates Elaborate Possibilities of Prefabrication



LAFAYETTE, INDIANA — The practical advantages of prefabrication are demonstrated in a new and wonderful way in an elaborate, 5,200-square foot home just completed here.

Better than five times the size of the average prefabricated home, this creation of the noted architect, Charles M. Goodman, is truly one of the country's most impressive show places. It is located in a beautifully wooded area, where other large, prefabricated homes are now being built for a number of business executives and their families.

This home was designed to provide for the specific living requirements of a particular family — that of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Price — and is a custom house in the strictest sense of the word.

But the home is built on a chassis of standardized component parts mass-produced in the Lafayette plant of the National Homes Corporation The exterior and interior wall panels and the ceiling and roof panels are structurally the same as those used in all National homes.

Both inside and outside of the home, Mr Goodman has demonstrated dramatically that there is no limit to the exploiting of these factory-produced components.

The finishes used on the standard interior wall panels are of walnut, birch, primavera, Chinese grass cloth, wallpaper, Italian ceramic mosaic tile, brick and wall-size mirrors are used to accentuate the spaciousness and beauty of the home.

Clear cypress and lime-coated, hand-made, oversize brick are used to cover the exterior panels. The cypress has been finished with clear, colorless creosote stain to enhance and preserve the golden color of the wood.

The floor finishes have been designed to fit the space use. In areas of potential heavy wear, Pennsylvania Blue stone is laid in a formal random rectangular pattern The other areas are carpeted Bathrooms have ceramic tile on the floor and on the walls from the floor to the ceiling.

The design problem which Mr Goodman has solved so elegantly was to provide for the needs of a family of two adults and two young people of high school and college age and of opposite sex.

"It was to be a home where entertainment of the circle of friends of any one member of the family could go on without impinging on the private life of any of the other members," explained Mr Goodman "It also was to be a house capable of holding a large group at one time. But above all it was to be a personal home with a very human scale and simple dignity despite its size."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly higher in quiet trading early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues made gains or losses running to around a point or so. Selected stock moved two or more points either way.

Tobacco stocks took losses as a new report linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer was made public. Auto shares edged off as the industry reported a new decline in production. But coppers showed some fair gains.

On balance, key industrial and rail issues were slightly ahead.

Oil shares showed a slightly higher tendency following encouraging earnings reports.

Overall hesitancy was apparent, however, in view of the still uncertain Middle East situation.

U. S. government bonds were generally lower.

Toastmasters Are Guests for Junior Chamber Meeting

Pointers on public speaking were revealed to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce when the group had members of the Toastmasters' Club as its guests at a dinner meeting in the YMCA Thursday night.

The program featured examples of various types of public speaking, with many Jaycees chosen to participate in the demonstrations. Talks were of a five-minute prepared type and impromptu table speeches, presented on topics of timely interest.

A traveling trophy was presented to Kenneth McKee, member of the Toastmasters' Club, for the best talk. John Dietrich received the award for the best evaluation of a speech.

Jaycee President William Rawlins turned the program over to Loren Schoppe, president of the Toastmasters' Club. Jack Saunders of the latter group served as toastmaster. Topic master was Joseph Kerrigan.

National Homes' trucks travel 5 million miles in year

NATIONAL HOMES TRUCK SYSTEM RESULTS IN SAVINGS TO HOME BUYER

Operating as part of the National Homes assembly line, the company's fleet of trailers travels better than five million miles a year.

Carl E. Myers, Transportation Director for National Homes, figures the trailers go a distance equivalent to 200 times around the world in delivering the thousands of homes produced every year to building sites located in 41 states and the District of Columbia.

National Homes operates one of the country's largest industrial fleets to give every home "special delivery" treatment. Homes are shipped from the company's three plants on a planned schedule so that they will arrive at the building site at the beginning of a work day.

COLOR-FLECKED PLEXTONE TEXTURED ENAMEL

The Most Amazing Paint Development in 100 Years!

EASIEST PAINT IN THE WORLD TO CLEAN!

PLEXTONE MULTI-COLORED TEXTURE PAINT STAYS CLEANER LONGER

Usually, Plextone can be cleaned easily, quickly, with soap and water. Yet, depending upon how difficult the dirt, how stubborn the stain, you can scrub it—scour it—even sand it! Plextone can withstand such treatment — again and again — because its unique physical properties make it more resistant to wear than ordinary paints. As for staying cleaner longer, Plextone has anti-static properties too! Thus Plextone tends to repel dirt!

What is Plextone? Plextone is a revolutionary idea in paint chemistry: a wall coating composed of two or more colors that are applied at one time with just one spray coat. As the separate colors lay in juxtaposition to one another, a thrillingly new, 3-dimensional concept with depth and dimension is achieved. Plextone is available in an infinite variety of multi-colors, all offering easier-to-clean protection and beauty.

Youngster, 12, Is Expert on Weather

Student in Sixth Grade Supplies Classmates Daily Information

Among Marion's weather experts, a 12-year old sixth grade student at Vernon Heights School has come to the fore.

Armed with a host of instruments and materials, including a large weather map which he has drawn himself, George F. Scantland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Scantland Jr. of 755 King Ave., daily keeps classmates posted with the latest developments in weather.

THE YOUNGSTER'S morning report is so extensive it not only includes low and high temperatures for the day, but those predicted for the next day as well.

Time of sunrise, sunset, velocity of wind, measurement of rain or snow, type of clouds, humidity, dew point and phase of the moon, all these things are revealed to the students in Miss Clara Gillan's classroom during a five-minute weather report given by George each morning.

The youth writes these facts in black pencil at the bottom of his map which is covered with a type of plastic. Each morning he rubs off the figures of the day before and places new ones at the bottom of his map.

Not to be outdone by television weather commentators, George has used his ingenuity to create colorful weather symbols which he affixes to the map in the proper areas each morning.

Mr. Sunshine is depicted in a friendly yellow color, while ice or freezing is expressed through a picture of an ice cube.

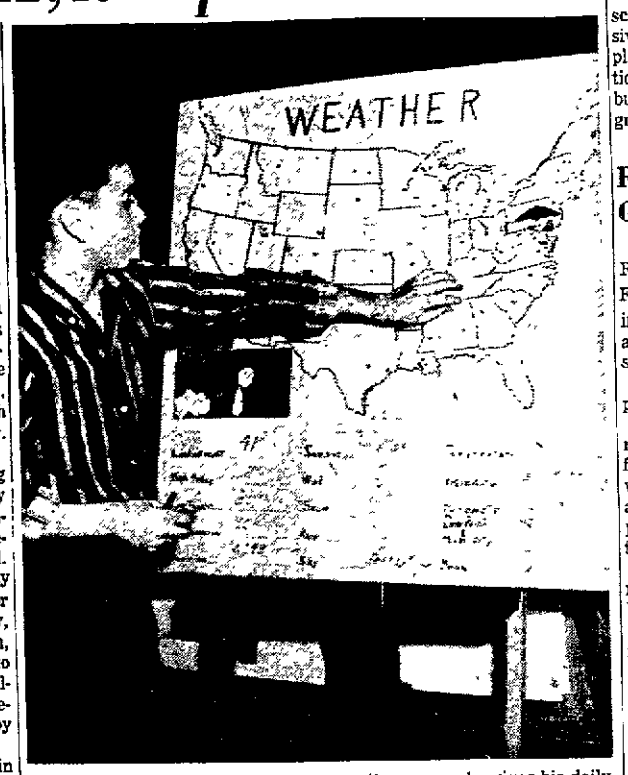
George has employed a total of seven weather symbols which he uses to illustrate weather conditions.

—:—

ACCORDING TO THE young weather expert, he always has been interested in observing weather trends. In October he conceived the idea of putting his hobby to work and with the help of his parents and teacher did just that.

When he first started his project, he spent a half hour on it in both the morning and night. Getting up practically at dawn, he checked his barometer, noted information from the calendar, rain gauge, thermometer and even referred to his father's aviation book for cloud information before turning on the television to get additional statistics.

From a combination of television shows he learned the information necessary to present an all-inclusive report.



PLACING A WEATHER SYMBOL on the map as he gives his daily morning weather report to classmates is George Scantland, sixth grade student at Vernon School and son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Scantland Jr. of 755 King Ave. Since October, George has kept classmates posted on even the most complex scientific weather developments through his five-minute reports in class.

Still enjoying his hobby as much as the day he started it, George claims the morning and night procedure which he still follows has been cut to less than half the time it originally took. He now spends about 10 minutes both morning and night.

SINCE HE BEGAN his project he has had three maps, graduating in size each time. The one he now uses, finished a few months ago, has been outlined in India ink.

After drawing it at home free hand, he brought his production to school where he spent several recesses tracing over the lines with the India ink so they would stand out.

George's knowledge of weather goes far beyond the facts which he daily collects. He has learned just what causes change in temperature, how warm air and cold air currents operate and several other scientific factors concerning the weather. This information he has shared with his classmates.

The 12-year-old weather expert is proud of his hobby and claims he has only missed giving the weather report in the classroom during a brief period when he was ill.

Asked if he planned to enter science as a career, George's pensive reply was that although he plans to continue weather observation as a hobby, he wants to be a builder like his father when he grows up.

"Do you have laryngitis?"

"No," the man shook his head. "It's my wife. She hasn't been able to say a single word for several days.
